S. Viet Drive

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese troops pushed deeper into Cambodia on Monday in their biggest incursion into the neighboring country since last May's allied thrust against enemy sanctuaries.

No American soldiers were involved in the new offensive, but U.S. artillery supported the move by firing into Cambodia from bases in South Vietnam.

The drive, aimed at offsetting a fresh North Vietnamese threat to the Saigon area, began Sunday when 6,000 government troops crossed the border and moved into the town of Snuol, near the frontier in southeast Cambodia.

Sources said they encountered little opposition, although two North Vietnamese troops were killed in a brief fight about four miles southeast of the city. Headquarters claimed 139 enemy soldiers had been slain in the entire operation. South Vietnamese losses were put at three killed and 31 wounded.

The offensive almost doubled the number of South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia, bringing the total to about 17,500.

Informants said the forces were blocking three key highways—Route 1, the main road between Phnom Penh and Saigon; Route 13, between the South Vietnamese district town of Loc Ninh and Snuol; and Route 7, between Snuol and Mimot.

"Considerable activity" had been spotted in the Mimot area by American observation planes, the informant said, and other reports fixed the number of North Vietnamese troops operating in the Snuol area at regiment strength.

American forces were rapidly being withdrawn from the Saigon area of South Vietnam, and sources said the new offensive was necessary to assure the withdrawal pace.

Informants reported the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had been trying to reoccupy the sanctuaries that were cleaned out by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops during the drive last May and June.

Elsewhere in Indochina, action was light and scattered Monday, although U.S. B52 bombers continued to hit the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in the Laotian panhandle.

Smaller tactical aircraft supported combat missions of the royal Laotian army in Laos and the Cambodian government forces in Cambodia.

Agnew Speech

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Monday that President Nixon, despite two rebuffs by the U.S. Senate, is determined to place a "Southern strict constructionist on the Supreme Court."

Agnew made the comment in a speech to 6,000 cheering spectators in this textile center's Memorial Auditorium.

He stopped in Greenville for two hours in opening the final six-day push of the campaign.

Agnew flew on to Raleigh, N.C., for an evening rally at North Carolina State University. The vice president was greeted by about 1,500 persons when he landed at the Spartanburg-Greenville Jet-Port. It was a friendly crowd, but there was an occasional sign saying such things as "Down with Agnew, up with peace." But there were others that said: "Sack it to 'em Spiro."

In his speech, Agnew said, "I need not remind you that Richard Nixon remains determined to achieve a better ideological and geographical balance on the Supreme Court."

"His resolution to achieve that balance will never waver, despite those radical liberals who still control the Senate," Agnew said.

The vice president said Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., rejected by the Senate last fall, was "plainly the victim of Anti-Southern bias."

Haynsworth, chief judge of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., and a resident of Greenville, was defeated 52-47 by the Senate.

In April, Nixon's second appointee to the court, federal Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida, was rejected 51-45. In May, the Senate confirmed Judge Henry Blackmun of Minnesota.

Agnew was campaigning in South Carolina chiefly for congressman Albert Watson, who is in a tight race for governor against Lt. Gov. John West, the Democrat nominee, and two other minor candidates.

Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional campaign contributions of $751,400 to liberal candidates to date were announced Monday by the 22-year-old National Committee for an Effective Congress.

Russell D. Hemenway, the NCEC national director, said the group's fund-raising effort this year was the most successful ever and that the goal remains $900,000 to $1 million for the campaign.

Of the total, $434,900 was raised by NCEC personal contact and direct-mail drives from some 80,000 to 90,000 supporters, Hemenway said. The balance was raised in a series of parties and receptions and earmarked through NCEC for specific races.

All told, $529,600 has been distributed so far to 17 candidates for the senate including Democrat Adlai Stevenson III in Illinois. Sixty-one House candidates have received the remaining $221,600.

Additionally, 250 candidates have received a series of 21 in-depth issue papers-economic analysis, drug abuse, housing—from the committee "to help raise the level of campaign dialogue," Hemenway said.

Several candidates were endorsed by the NCEC, Hemenway said, but received no campaign money because they were not thought to be in campaign trouble this year. An example would be Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Committee spokesman Susan King declined to provide a breakdown of individual contributions, but said the figures would eventually be supplied by the candidates to the clerks of both houses.

U.N. Mideast Debate Begins

Egypt Blasts U.S. Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt accused the United States on Monday of joining Israel in a policy of "military aggression and political deceit" that blocked peace in the Middle East.

Mahmoud Riad, the Egyptian foreign minister, made the charges in opening a U.N. General Assembly debate on the Arab-Israeli deadlock on peace negotiations.

Abba Eban, the Israeli foreign minister, said outside the assembly that Riad delivered a "violent and dishonorable tirade" to the 127-nation assembly. There was no comment from the United States. Eban was expected to present his case probably on Tuesday.

In Tel Aviv, Gen. Aharon Yariv, chief of Israeli's military intelligence, told a news conference Egypt and the Soviet Union had established one of the most advanced missile systems in the world in the Suez Canal zone.

He estimated that 500 to 600 missiles had been deployed in the zone, about half of them in launchers.

Riad gave no details on the missiles, but charged that Israel was seeking to obtain the dismantling of the SAM2 and SAM3 missile sites in order to cripple Egypt's air defenses.

Israel is boycotting the Arab-Israeli peace talks under U.N. special envoy Gunnar V. Jarling, alleging Egypt violated the U.S.-arranged standstill in the canal zone by advancing the Soviet missile sites.

Riad said the United States continued to supply Israel with Phantom and Skyhawk bombers, tanks and other weapons.

"Indeed, only two days ago, the United States announced that it was providing Israel with 180 of its most advanced tanks, as part of $450 million credit facilities for armed purchases," Riad said.

Riad called on the General Assembly to "exercise its authority and take initiatives" to ensure peace by implementing the U.N. Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, which contains the formula for an over-all Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

A group of African delegates has drafted a resolution asking that Israel resume talks under Jarling's direction and in effect setting a two-month time limit official in Jerusalem said the resolution was unacceptable.

Eban called a news conference immediately after Riad concluded his speech.

The Israeli foreign minister, who said he may speak in the assembly Tuesday, told reporters he did not intend to take the defensive but to make new charges of his own against Egypt.

Riad did not mention extension of the 90-day cease-fire scheduled to expire Nov. 5, but statements from Cairo have indicated Egypt would accept an extension without a formal agreement.

Eban indicated a similar attitude on Israel's part.

There were these developments in the Middle East:

—The Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine and two smaller guerrilla organizations claimed joint responsibility for the ambush of an Israeli patrol Sunday near the southern Lebanese border. They claimed seven Israelis killed or wounded. Tel Aviv said five Israelis were wounded.

—At Gaza in the occupied Gaza Strip, an 18-year-old Arab was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday for killing an Israeli sergeant and wounding two soldiers in a gun battle last January.

—Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan visited the Gaza Strip. He said an estimated 10,000 Gaza Arabs would be employed soon by the Israelis, mainly in the citrus industry and in construction work in Jerusalem.

Chile Honors Slain General

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The nation gave a hero's funeral Monday to Gen. Rene Schneider, the assassinated army commander who had stuck to a tradition that the military should stay out of politics.

Thousands paid final respects at Schneider's candle-lit bier in a military academy and thousands more massed outside Santiago's Roman Catholic cathedral while officials and diplomats attended a requiem High Mass inside.

Earlier Monday, Gen. Emilio Cheyre, heading the investigation into the assassination last Thursday, announced that the slaying had been "practically solved." He did not go into details. Officials have said the assassination appeared to be the work of right-wingers seeking to block the takeover of the presidency Nov. 3 by Salvador Allende, a Marxist elected by popular vote Sept. 4 and Congress on Saturday.

Allende and the president he succeeded, Christian Democrat Eduardo Frei, led the funeral procession to the burial place in a military mausoleum in Santiago's General Cemetery.

Cheers arose as street mourners spotted Allende but the president-elect quickly put his fingers to his lips to silence the crowd.

Schneider, 57, died in a military hospital Sunday from three bullet wounds received in Thursday's ambush while driving to his office.

Four or five gunmen shot him point blank after forcing his limousine to the side of a suburban street with three other vehicles.

His body was transferred to the cathedral Monday morning from the Chilean Military Academy, where it had lain in state Sunday.

The government decreed three days of mourning.

A midnight-to-dawn curfew imposed under the state of emergency remained in effect. The first fatality since the curfew began was recorded early Monday when a military patrol shot and killed a bank employee.

Police said the man apparently ignored an order to stop his car at a checkpoint after the curfew had begun. A soldier killed the victim with one pistol shot that passed through the vehicle's rear window.

Two persons including an air force lieutenant colonel, were shot and wounded for the same reason, during Sunday's curfew, police reported.

Soviets Deplore Air 'Intrusions'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin accused the United States Monday night of violating Soviet air space more than 10 times in the last three years, sharply escalating the diplomatic furor over a light plane and two American generals held in Armenia.

Government statements protesting the "unlawful intrusion" of the plane gave no indication when the generals, their pilot and a Turkish escort officer might be released.

Instead, they reminded the United States and Turkey of Francis Gary Powers' disastrous U2 spy plane flight 10 years ago and warned that "provocative actions by American servicemen are fraught with dangerous consequences."

The strongly worded statements, carried by the official news agency Tass, came five days after a U.S. Army light plane carrying Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Scherrer and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr. strayed across the Soviet-Turkish border and landed in the Armenian town of Leninakan. Scherrer is head of the U.S. military mission in Turkey and McQuarrie is his assistant.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow asked for prompt release of the plane and its four occupants, terming the intrusion "clearly accidental." But Soviet authorities said they were conducting an investigation and did not permit two U.S. consuls to fly to Armenia until Monday.

There was no immediate word from the two consuls on whether they had seen the generals and under what conditions they are being held. The consuls also were to try to determine whether the generals' plane was forced down by bad weather or Soviet MIGs.

Tass said the Soviet protests were delivered separately to the United States and Turkish governments. Both complained that the latest intrusion was "not a chance violation of Soviet air space" but a "direct result of the general military activity of the United States in areas adjoining the Soviet Union."

OPERATION DEEPFREEZE AIRCRAFT CRASHES — Eighty persons aboard this Navy C-121 Super Constellation aircraft escaped serious injury after the Operation Deepfreeze aircraft crashed at Williams Field, Antarctica Oct. 8th. The pilot flying from Christchurch, N. Z. to Williams Field ran into an unexpected white-out in blizzard conditions as he approached the McMurdo Sound area. After making five passes over the runway in zero visibility he touched down on the 6th and veered off the runway, ripping off the right wing and collapsing the landing gear. (UPI Telephoto)

Falsified Army Award Prompts Investigation

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army has recommended that a general be stripped of the nation's third highest award for valor in combat because it was based on a fabricated citation, it was learned Monday night.

Army headquarters here is awaiting approval from Washington authorities, including the Department of the Army, before taking action to withdraw a Silver Star from Brig. Gen. Eugene P. Forrester.

In Washington, an Army spokesman said the field command in Saigon has the authority necessary to award the medal and the authority to rescind the award.

A preliminary Army investigation shows that the medal was awarded Forrester last Oct. 15 on the basis of a citation dreamed up by three enlisted men.

One of the three, Pvt. James Olstad, 22, Cashton, Wis., who helped prepare the citation, said earlier he was ordered to do it without any facts. He said the order was given to him at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 4 and he was told to have it ready by 8 a.m. the next morning.

The Army investigation is continuing in an effort to determine exactly who gave the orders. The preliminary investigation says that Forrester, 44, knew nothing about the citation. Informants said it was not read at the award ceremony, but that only the medal was pinned on him.

Forrester's citation was for heroism last June 9 during the big American drive into Cambodia. The citation said Forrester, assistant commander of the 1st Air Cavalry Division at the time, "distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous actions" at Fire Base Bronco when American troops came under attack.

Forrester, a native of Watertown, Tenn., left the division Oct. 15 to become assistant chief of staff for civil operations and rural development at U.S. Command headquarters in Saigon. Newsmen have been unable to get comment from him on the incident.

Col. George Newman, chief of staff of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, and other officers, friends of Forrester, said last week the general was entitled to a medal for valor because he performed brave acts similar to those described in the citation but at varying times during the two-month operation into Cambodia.

"In essence, it came time for Gen. Forrester to leave the division. I did not have any recommendations for awards. I gave the staff the job to reconstruct and develop the acts."

"Instructions down the line to the men who dug for me were garbled. The men dug into the files and took the type of information needed from other awards and constructed a logical story. They got me to accept the fact it was true."

Deficit May Result Spending Lid Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gambling that its policies will lead to economic recovery the Nixon administration has decided to place a $225-billion ceiling on federal spending for the 1972 fiscal year.

The spending lid could result in a sizable federal deficit—some say as high as $15 billion to $20 billion—if the administration's long-range strategy for reducing unemployment fails to work out.

If it does, the deficit is projected to be much lower.

The ceiling is being applied for the first time under what Nixon's fiscal planners call a full-employment budget. It is a technique of fixing expenditure levels for the entire year at the level of revenues that could be expected if the nation were at full production.

After a slowdown that began a year ago, Nixon's economic advisers see a gradual expansion of the economy, resulting in projected full employment sometime in calendar year 1972.

Barring passage of major new taxes, a deficit thus would be built into the fiscal 1972 budget, now in preparation for submission to Congress in mid-January.

The next fiscal year starts July 1. For several months the administration's spending level would be running higher than the expected tax collections until full production is reached.

If all this works out according to the administration's planning, the 1972 deficit would go no higher than $5 billion.

But officials acknowledge many imponderables exist. First, there is the size of the deficit in the current $205.6-billion budget. Earlier the administration put the deficit at $1.3 billion but now it's expected to go well beyond that figure.

Also bearing on the outcome is what Congress will do with several revenue-raising proposals by Nixon, including a postal-rate increase and a tax on leaded gasoline.

Nixon has tried to avoid running up a big federal deficit. Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy says it would place a big financial strain on credit markets because the government would have to borrow more money.

Tarr Establishes New Draft Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr established a policy Monday permitting men to drop certain deferments at will.

The policy means a man with a student, occupational fatherhood or hardship deferment can abandon it whenever it is to his advantage, without awaiting the end of the condition under which it was granted.

He could, for example, choose to enter the 1A manpower pool late in a year when it is apparent his draft lottery number will not be reached.

Exposure for even part of the year counts for the entire year and if a man ends the year in 1A status without being drafted, he is moved into less vulnerable categories in the following years.

Tarr said lottery number 195 probably will be the highest called this year, and he invited men who received higher numbers in the draft lottery held December 1969 to take advantage of the opportunity to face their maximum exposure in a year which, for them, is already safe.

Men who received lottery numbers last July, however, could not use the ruling to their advantage this year. They will be the top-priority group of 1971 and dropping a deferment now would only expose them to the draft for that entire year before they know what their chances are.

They could use it later in 1971 or in future years. Tarr's directive contained also a warning for deferred men that they must provide their draft boards with required evidence if they want their deferments renewed.

Trudeau Acts For Good Of All

The first law of life, for human societies as well as human individuals, is survival—survival against threats both internal and external.

In totalitarian states, the former danger is no problem, though it requires a constant effort to contain it. The totalitarian state is geared to suppress all challenge to the ruling leader or group, to nip incipient revolt in the bud at its first appearance.

In democracies, based as they are on the principle that government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed, where "loyal opposition" is in fact a patriotic duty, dissent that goes beyond the bounds of legality to the point of violent revolutionary action against the government poses a supreme test that can be greater even than that of foreign invasion.

For how do you square the need to safeguard the rights of individuals, which form the essence of democracy, with the need to take measures that are swift enough and strong enough to remove the danger to that democracy?

The answer, of course, is that you don't square it. You simply do what has to be done, trusting that as soon as the peril is passed, due process and all the slow, intricate legal machinery designed to protect the individual from the tyranny of government can be fully restored.

Thus to survive, democracies must on rare occasions ironically adopt the characteristics of a totalitarian state.

How willing, or unwilling, a people is to take this drastic step is actually a measure of its devotion to democracy.

Scholars are still writing monographs on Abraham Lincoln's suspension of habeas corpus in 1862 in order to gag antiwar agitators and ensure that the Republicans won the mid-term elections.

To Lincoln, and history has vindicated him, the winning of the "War of the Rebellion" and the restoration of the Union far outweighed any citizen's right of free speech and of the vote.

The steps taken by Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau to destroy the radical Quebec separatists have shocked many by their suddenness and their massiveness. As Lincoln was severely criticized, so has Trudeau been. One opposition member of Parliament called it "using a sledgehammer to crack a peanut."

But timid halfway measures or attempts to compromise and bargain with the radicals would in the long run be more tragic than the deaths of the unfortunate hostages or the possible trampling on the rights of innocent persons by the police.

As Trudeau has said, no government can permit itself to be subject to blackmail. The radicals must be smashed, and that's all there is to it.

History will also vindicate Trudeau, and democracy in Canada will be stronger for what he has done.

States Take Searching Look At Student Voting

By BLAINE E. ROWLEE
Associated Press Writer

The prospect that the U.S. Supreme Court may uphold lowering the legal voting age to 18 may cause a number of states to take a searching look at laws enfranchising college students and at the possible heightened impact on local elections.

In at least one state, city government officials say their fears already have basis.

Only 17 of the 50 states have what amount to flat restrictions against college students voting except in their home towns, either in person or by absentee ballot. Mississippi even bars ballots by mail.

All the rest of the states, by laws usually hedged with length of residence requirements and sometimes "proof of intent to establish permanent residence," allow college students to vote where they go to school.

Most states have a minimum voting age of 21. Congress, however, has passed a law lowering the voting age to 18 and its constitutionality is being tested in court. The U.S. Constitution says states shall determine qualifications of their voters.

Residence qualifications vary from state to state: usually six months to a year in the state, 30 days to four months in the county and mostly 30 days in the voting precinct.

Enfranchised University of Wisconsin students say they already have "thrown our weight around" in the affairs of the city of Madison, and it may result in restrictive legislation, some city officials say.

Despite what he termed "rigorous interpretation" of Wisconsin's registration laws, Eldon Hoel, Madison city clerk, said some 10,000 students were registered as having met the requirement to "prove they're not temporary residents — people who are married or have no support from the folks back home."

Although they are, but one-ninth of Madison's electorate, the students have elected three of the 22 members of the City Council. These aldermen blocked a $600,000 city bank loan, and Alderman Paul Soglin, a 25-year-old law student said:

"We have to throw our weight around. The other councilmen think we're just a bunch of talkers who have no programs. With more young people voting, and getting elected, you'll get saner local planning and a cleaner environment."

But state Rep. F. James Sensenbrenner, co-chairman of a legislative committee reviewing elections, took a different view. He predicted the next Wisconsin Legislature will require students to vote in their home towns.

Sensenbrenner said, "we don't want a college town to be saddled, for example, with a large school bond debt by the votes of transient students who have no roots in the area."

Wisconsin is not the only place where student voting is viewed with alarm.

A campaigner for the 18-year-old vote in Connecticut said he hopes there'll be no move to ease further the restrictions of that state's constitution.

Edward Forand Jr., an organizer of the movement to lower Connecticut's voting age, said, "Most people are tremendously fearful of the possibility of young people getting the vote in their area and perhaps dramatically swaying elections. There is no campaign here and I wouldn't dream of encouraging one. People are scared enough as it is."

In some states that permit a collegian to register as a voter in the college town, officials rely on administrative regulations and tests of an applicant's intent to establish permanent residence.

While he was assistant Arkansas attorney general, Thomas Glaze ruled such intent should be demonstrated by owning property, paying taxes and establishing a residence.

Some local authorities in Indiana have threatened to prosecute students who claimed permanent residence and registered to vote if they continue to drive personal cars registered and licensed in another state.

Even among the states that allow students to vote where they go to school, there are special requirements on establishing residence. Those who live in college dorms or fraternity houses, for example, cannot establish voting residence in college towns of Texas, Pennsylvania and Michigan, and are "considered suspect" in Minnesota.

Kentucky's Atty. Gen. John B. Breckinridge recently issued an opinion that a married student could establish residence in a college town only by certifying that he intended to remain there for some time and planned never to return to his home town to live. In this case, the student already was married, self-supporting, and received no financial aid from his parents.

Most states are not as tough, however, in enfranchising married students or those who live off campus.

The most liberal registration laws regarding students appear to be those of New Jersey, Wyoming, Colorado, California, Missouri, Iowa and Idaho.

New Jersey allows even dormitory residents to register. Wyoming and Colorado registration restrictions are mainly those of time—by Oct. 19 in Wyoming, 32 days before an election in Colorado.

In states that almost uncompromisingly bar student voters in college towns, the laws usually have a clause similar to Montana's: "A person may not gain or lose a residence . . . while a student at any institution of higher learning."

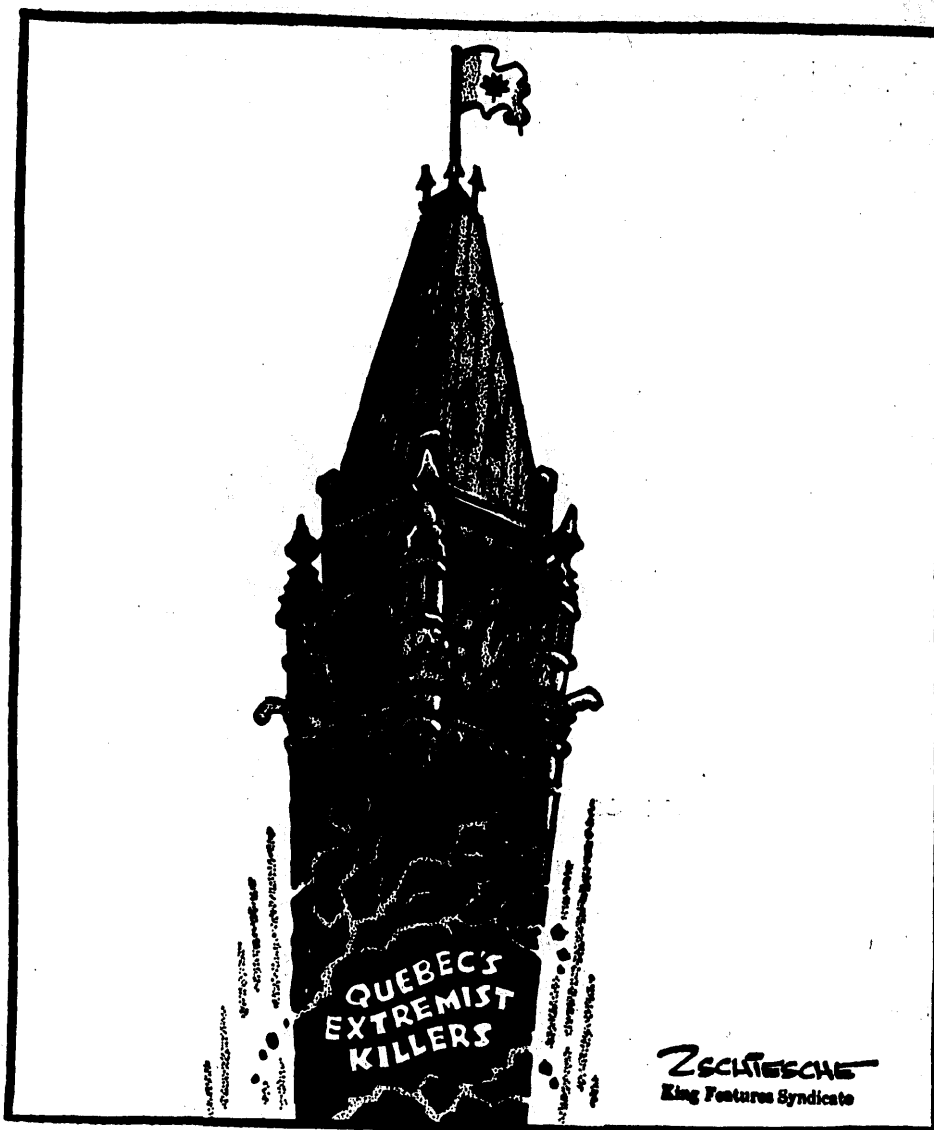

These states include New Mexico, Delaware, Vermont, Maryland, Maine, Alabama, New Hampshire, Georgia, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Ohio, Louisiana, Virginia and Massachusetts.

Communist Record Over 20 Years Reds Break All Cease-Fires

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—If, as announced, President Nixon's proposals for a standstill cease-fire in Southeast Asia have the support of President Thieu of South Vietnam, Premier Lon Nol of Cambodia and Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos, this is remarkable testimony to the confidence these men have that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are too weak to make a decisive military comeback.

For if these men are wrong in their estimate of Communist weakness, by agreeing to a cease-fire they could be endangering the very existence of their countries as free, independent nations.

For what the Communists now need in Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam is time to repair the damage done to them by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam and in the Cambodian sanctuaries, to replenish the supplies lost, to reorganize their badly crippled South Vietnamese political-economic-psywar underground in South Vietnam and in Cambodia, to get relief from their overextension in Laos and to get a breathing spell for patching some of the economic problems they face in their North Vietnamese homeland.

That is, the North Vietnamese are off balance now and need time to get back in shape to fight more effectively in the future.

Nixon, Thieu, Lon Nol and Souvanna Phouma know these things. And they also know the Communists have massively and openly broken virtually every major Asian cease-fire in the past two decades in which their troops were involved.

In the majority of the cases this reporter knows well, these Communist violations have been great enough to upset the military or political balance in their favor, or sufficiently in their favor to win important objectives.

Furthermore, in a majority of the cases known to this reporter, the Communists have violated the cease-fire with impunity. That is, once the non-Communists have agreed to a cease-fire, the free world forces have been "stuck" with it, regardless of Communist violations.

Public opinion, or the changing balance of power that came about as a result of the Communist violations, has usually prevented a resumption of the fighting. Thus, the Communists, in past cease-fires, have had what amounted to guaranteed military and political gains, quite often with no penalties attached.

To understand just how great a gamble these Southeast Asian leaders are taking, let us turn to some major examples of how effectively Communists have used cease-fires to turn the tables on their enemies:

— The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong violated the 1968 Tet cease-fire in South Vietnam with attacks throughout the country and thereby won major political victories in the United States.

The real birth of an effective antiwar, give - in - to - the - Communists - because-it's - a - hopeless-fight movement in this country began with that Communist betrayal of its cease-fire pledges. (As a matter of fact, it is now known that this cease-fire was proposed by the Communists to make this Tet sneak attack practical.)

— In the fighting which led to the Communist take-over of mainland China, the Chinese Communists used a series of cease-fires to strengthen their battered positions and to gain time to arm themselves with great stocks of Russian-cap-

Ann Landers:

Method Criticized

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my brother and his wife went on a trip. They left their 14-year-old son with us. From the beginning, the boy's behavior toward his aunt was rude and mocking. He became smart-alecky on several occasions. I warned him to watch his mouth. When he called my wife a vulgar name, I warned his rump with a ping-pong paddle. From then on he was most respectful and we had no more trouble with him.

Yesterday my brother came for the boy. I told him exactly what happened. His reaction was astonished me. He said I had no business laying a hand on his son, that I should have waited until he returned so he could administer the punishment—"in his own way."

I believe a child should be punished when he misbehaves, not a week later. What do you say?—Strict Uncle

Dear Ann: The method of discipline should have been discussed BEFORE the parents left. Since it was not, there should be no criticism of the manner in which you dealt with the boy.

I have a hunch if the father had paid more attention to his son's earlier upbringing, the boy would not be using vulgar language with his aunt—or anyone else.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a pack rat who clips articles and keeps them forever. I would like to submit excerpts from an article which appeared in Harper's Magazine 16 years ago. It was written by John Fischer, who was editor-in-chief.

"Many U.S. men die early from ulcers and high blood pressure because their wives set out to reform them as soon as the wedding ceremony is over. Most American brides regard a husband as 175 pounds of raw material. She feels it is her duty to make something out of the sorry clod, even if she has to wear her tongue to the roots in the process. This undaunted approach may have something to do with the U.S. divorce rate, axe murders, and the vast number of characters who sit nursing shot glasses in men's bars late at night. Nevertheless, it has made American women the envy of the world. Never before in history has a nation devoted so large a share of its brains and resources to the sole purpose of keeping women deodorized, corseted, enshrined in chrome convertibles, curled, slenderized, rejuvenated and protected against all physical labor. Meanwhile the husbands of these household pets live in mute agony and die mercifully from ulcers and high blood pressure."

When I clipped this article 16 years ago, I was amused. Today I do not think it is funny. I see myself and I am ashamed. I hope you will print the excerpt, Ann. My wife won't recognize herself because she believes she is perfect.—Coward

Dear Ann: The excerpt is amusing but it certainly does not apply to all women. Show me a man who tolerates "a household pet" who tries to pass herself off as a wife, and I'll show you a man who enjoys being taken advantage of, needs it and deserves it.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week I went to a party. Three people I had never seen before came up and asked me to buy raffle tickets for a benefit. Sunday I attended a wedding reception. Two casual acquaintances tried to sell me tickets to a bazaar. Last night I was invited to the home of a relative. No sooner had I entered the house than the 11-year-old son of the hostess hit up every guest for a ticket to his Sunday school play. Of course, no one had the nerve to refuse. I call this high-grade blackmail. What do you call it?—Pigeon

Dear Pidge: Low-grade manners.

Those Cards From UNICEF

The bright little catalogue came again the other day—a booklet full of the gay pictures in this year's selection of UNICEF Christmas cards. It is really not too soon; cards must be ordered early.

Why UNICEF cards? The answer, though very well known, is a pleasure to reiterate. These cards do double service. Their beautiful design and their message of universal good will are fun to send and a delight to receive. Better yet, the sale proceeds are used to help the desperately disadvantaged children of the world's developing countries. What could be better, at Christmas or any other time, than that?

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Ross Randolph, warden of Menard penitentiary, addressed the annual meeting of the Morgan-Scott Home Bureau Thursday. He said law enforcement was 100 per cent better than only ten years ago, but protection of the people is worse due to the bungling of the courts and judges.

Deer in this area are getting so thick that any specimen of any age or sex may be taken this year. The season opened Friday with several hunters reporting success.

Cooler temperatures, but we could stand less rain and some sunshine.

20 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Anna Ruby, Cass county's spunky, beloved "Sunbonnet Lady," died Wednesday in Virginia at the age of 103. For many years she supported herself making and selling sunbonnets.

Four men wearing heavy goggles and armed with machine guns held up and robbed 50 patrons at the Pittsfield bowling alley Wednesday night. Disdaining jewelry and watches, they extracted about $500 in cash from the group.

Pretty nippy last night, with some folks reporting frost.

50 YEARS AGO

The work on the new soldiers' monument in Central Park is progressing at a snail's pace and now one part is missing, evidently lost in transit on the Wabash.

Monday was a busy day at the local office of the Telephone Co., when 23,015 calls were put through, including 1,742 on the rural lines. This is indeed a lot of talking.

The roads are frightfully muddy following three days of medium to hard rain, and plans for the three-day Firemen's Circus have been cancelled.

75 YEARS AGO

James Dewees, living near Prentice, has a peculiar domestic fowl. Not long since a turkey hen brought off a brood of little ones and among them was a quail. She raised it as carefully as her own offspring and now it is a full grown bird and parades around the premises the same as the barn yard fowls. Mr. D. means to keep it right along and vows dire vengeance on any one who dares kill it.

Hear "Swanee River" and "Old Kentucky Home" by the original Tennesseans next Tuesday. These singers are especially noted for the beautiful shading and exquisite blending of their voices. (ADV.)

100 YEARS AGO

Word was received yesterday by telegraph of the untimely death of William Green Galaher, felled in Colorado by that grim destroyer, consumption. He was a brilliant scholar, an able attorney and about thirty years old.

The barometer at the Dunlap House began dropping at noon yesterday and continued such for six hours. This is said to be an indication of wet and slippery weather. If it appears we'll term ourselves weather prophets of the first rank; if it stays dry it's the barometer's fault.

GROWING BANANAS IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS?
It's hard to believe but Mrs. Paul Koester of Hoyleton has living proof. About five years ago a neighbor gave Mrs. Koester a banana plant slip. She nurtured it through the winter in her home. In the summer she set the plant out in her yard. The plant was about eight feet tall when set out this year. It shot up to about 20 feet tall and bore bananas for the first time. Mrs. Koester cut the bananas about two weeks ago, when the picture was made and is waiting for the fruit to ripen to see how it tastes.

Says Getting Out Of U.S. Easy For Fugitives

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a fugitive seeking refuge abroad, getting out of the United States is "incredibly easy," say government officials.

If his political leaning is acceptable to the nation where he wants to go, passage is practically assured.

"All you've got to do is walk across the border, go to the Cuban embassy and say you want to go to Algeria," said one U.S. official who asked not to be identified.

In recent months, a number of fugitives from American justice have followed that or similar scenarios, among them Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver and LSD advocate Dr. Timothy Leary.

Escape routes are available to radical fugitives through both Mexico and Canada, according to government sources. In most cases to next stop is Cuba; for some, like Cleaver, it is on to Algeria.

Crossing from the United States into Canada or Mexico is perhaps the easiest step in a fugitive's journey, government sources say, because of hundreds of miles of borders guarded by only 1,600 Customs and Immigration officials.

For those on the radical left, the sources say, a sort of informal underground railroad exists. It is believed Cleaver and Leary used such a pipeline.

For fugitives whose political views might not mesh with those in Cuba or Algeria, the going gets a little rougher.

James Earl Ray, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., obtained a false passport in Canada to get to England where he was caught.

Among fugitives believed to have sought refuge out of the country are four young men sought in last summer's fatal bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center at the University of Wisconsin.

When the FBI issues a warrant for a fugitive, police in Canada and Mexico are notified. Cooperation by neighboring police is described as good.

Should Canadian or Mexican police pick up a fugitive from the United States, extradition is governed by a series of treaties. Since neither Algeria nor Cuba maintain diplomatic relations with the United States, there is no extradition process.

Reds Break

tured Japanese weapons in Manchuria. This resulted in a major shift in the balance of military power in China.

In the Indochina war of independence against the French, the several factions of nationalists and Ho Chi Minh's Communists agreed on a cease-fire between themselves in order to more effectively fight the French. Ho Chi Minh used this cease-fire to systematically attack and destroy key leaders and units of the non-Communist nationalists and to place his own troops in a position to make opposition to his take-over ineffective.

The treaty on Laos was no cease-fire. But it was, in major details, the equivalent. Under the provisions of this treaty, foreign forces were to halt fighting and then withdraw. The West's forces did just that. The Communists removed a few hundred men and left more than 10,000 in place. These troops continued fighting.

This Communist violation made it possible for them to continue using the Ho Chi Minh trails. This enabled North Vietnamese armies to effectively invade South Vietnam.

Within hours after agreeing not to reinforce their defenses in North Korea, the Red Chinese and North Koreans did so massively while they stalled. This so effectively shifted the power balance that it has been necessary for the United States to keep troops in South Korea ever since.

Despite the obvious advantages the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong would gain from a cease-fire, there is a very good chance that Hanoi and its VC allies will reject Nixon's proposals.

In most of the above-mentioned cases, the cease-fires were suggested by the Communists. But Communists are extremely leery of proposals by their enemies. They suspect some hidden maneuver or trick. Communists basically are bureaucrats, and their immediate reaction to any Western proposal is negative.

So Nixon may gain whatever U.S. political advantages his proposals bring—but quite possibly no cease-fire.

Citrus Growers Seek Orange Juice Outlets

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Citrus growers awash in their own "liquid sunshine" are casting about for orange juice outlets into everything from cancer cures to shampoo.

It may even develop that the stuff is great for gout sufferers, folks with hardening of the arteries and aging practitioners of the amour. Anyway, that's what the growers hope.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates this season's orange crop at 168 million boxes. That's 23 million boxes above the 1966-67 record high of 145 million boxes, which brought growers only a break-even price of 75 cents a box.

Florida Citrus Mutual, a co-op representing more than 15,000 growers, has decided to seek new uses for the fruit as fast as possible.

"We're in a clutch situation now, and that's an understatement," said Tom Osborne, assistant general manager of Mutual.

"I think the industry is finally beginning to realize we've got to get into markets unrelated to the food category because the prospect of selling oranges through research is unlimited."

The Florida Citrus Research Council, a division of the Florida Department of Citrus, has already given preliminary approval for a study to determine the usefulness of orange juice in combating cancer.

The tentative okay was given after Dr. J. U. Schlegel of the Tulane University School of Medicine told the group ascorbic acid may have great value as an antioxidant in fighting cancer of the bladder. Orange juice is packed with ascorbic acid.

The role of orange juice, rich in vitamin C, in fighting gout, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, rheumatism of the muscles, thickening of the skin and even heart disease already is being probed by doctors.

The possibility of prolonging an aging person's sex activity with orange juice is being researched by a Japanese doctor, M. Higuchi.

"We've even got a guy who's working on a hair conditioner rinse made from orange peel oil," Osborne said.

Bears Come Close Again With Lions

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Joe Schmidt was philosophic about his Detroit Lions narrow 16-10 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday.

"With the mistakes we made and the way they played, they deserved to win it," said Schmidt. "But I'm happy to say that we played badly and won because that shows the character of this team."

"I was worried about everybody looking past the Bears for our next game against the Minnesota Vikings and I'm sorry to say I was right," continued Schmidt.

"I can't blame the players for looking ahead because for the last two weeks people outside of football in Detroit have been talking Vikings. You can't do that. Not when you're going against a team as physically rough as the Bears."

"I know one thing," said Schmidt. "You can't play Minnesota like we did against the Bears and expect to win."

Schmidt added that he hoped the Lions' play against the Bears would spur them to a greater effort against Minnesota.

Mistakes were so prevalent that the Lions' only touchdown of the game which gave them their first lead at 13-7 early in the fourth quarter was a wrong play.

"The pass was supposed to be to me," said Mel Farr "but when I saw Earl take it, I decided to let him take it."

Earl McCullough who grabbed the 17-yard toss from Bill Munson said "I didn't see the play from the start but picked up the ball when it was in the air."

Detroit's most glaring mistake came with the Lions leading 13-10 with 7:49 to play. It was a third-and-one situation on the Bear 49.

Instead of a running play, Munson called a pass and caught the Bears flat-footed. Charlie Sanders was out to about the 20-yard line with nobody close to him. Munson hit him with the pass and Sanders dropped it.

"I aged about 10 years on that one," groaned Schmidt, recalling the play with a cringe.

Aside from the touchdown, the Lions scored on field goals of 43, 49 and 31 yards by Errol Mann. The Bears scored in the first quarter on a 43-yard pass from Jack Concannon to Dick Gordon and again in the fourth quarter on an 11-yard field goal by Mac Pervinal.

Gordon again beat Lem Barney for the touchdown bomb just as he had done twice in a previous loss at Detroit.

"I got kicked in the left ankle early in the game," said Barney. "Gordon and I were head-and-head when he went into a post pattern and I played the corner pattern because it was easier on the ankle."

The Bears sent in Bobby Douglass to finish the game because Concannon, who suffered from a strep throat last Friday, "was running out of gas" according to Coach Jim Dooley.

The fans had something to cheer about when wide receiver George Farmer, heretofore the back-up man to Bob Wallace, came through with a fine performance.

Farmer grabbed six passes for 147 yards including a 60-yard bomb late in the first half that took the Bears to the Detroit four-yard line with the Bears leading 7-3. But Concannon fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and Mike Weger recovered with the Lions content to run out the clock.

Drapeau Wins Fifth Term As Montreal Mayor

MONTREAL (AP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau won a fifth year term by a crushing majority and his Civic party swept all 46 contested City Council seats Sunday in an election unmarred by terrorist violence.

The new Front d'Action Politique, or Political Action Front, failed to place a single one of its 31 candidates on the 52-seat council of Canada's largest city.

Drapeau last week accused FRAP of a direct link with the terrorist Quebec Liberation Front, and the party filed a $3.6 million damage suit against the mayor Friday.

Among the FRAP losers were Dr. Henri Bellemare and printer Jean Roy, both arrested Oct. 16 in the hunt for the FLQ kidnapers of British Trade Commissioner James Cross and the slayers of Labor Minister Pierre Laporte. Bellemare and Roy were released Thursday.

FRAP is a coalition of a dozen citizens' group backed by organized labor. The party president, Paul Cliche, said even though it had failed to create an opposition at City Hall, it had "spotlighted the plight of our city's workers and... is firmly implanted in every working class district in Montreal."

Plead Guilty To Charges In Kent Case

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — A state prosecutor and a Kent State University professor pleaded guilty Monday to contempt of court charges in connection with newspaper interviews about May disturbances at Kent State and the subsequent grand jury investigation.

Seabury H. Ford, 68-year-old attorney serving as one of three state prosecutors in the grand jury probe, said he had been misquoted but admitted he violated a court order by granting an interview to a newsmen.

Both Ford and geology professor Glen Frank, who had testified before the jury, were released on $500 bond each.

Portage County Common Pleas Judge Edwin W. Jones, who had restricted public comments of persons involved in the investigation, deferred sentencing pending the outcome of two lawsuits filed following the grand jury report.

Ford had been quoted in a story by Knight Newspapers writer William Schmidt as saying Ohio National Guardsmen "should have shot all" troublemakers at Kent State. The story appeared Saturday in the Akron Beacon Journal, which Ford said had misquoted him.

Four students were killed during the confrontation with Guardsmen.

Frank, saying he was trying to force the filing of contempt charges against Ford, was quoted in the Beacon Journal Sunday as speaking out "in contempt of the naive and stupid conclusions of the special grand jury, specifically as to the reasons for the May 1-4 disturbances."

Ford said Schmidt had asked for an interview to obtain background material for a feature story on Ford. He said there had been an understanding that his comments about his personal feelings or philosophies "would not be published as direct quotations or otherwise."

Robert Giles, managing editor of the Beacon Journal, said, "We stand by Bill Schmidt's story. It was accurate and we think that Mr. Ford's willingness to plead guilty to the charge makes the issue of his being misquoted a rather moot one."

The contempt charges were filed by the Portage County Bar Association. The association executive committee had recommended earlier Monday that Ford also be removed as special prosecutor and as a prospective referee for cases under Ohio's campus anti-riot law if found guilty.

The committee recommended that Frank be subjected to discipline by Kent State as well as by the court if he were found guilty.

The lawsuits filed after the grand jury report were brought by the American Civil Liberties Union. One challenged Jones' order barring criticism of the proceedings and the other contested Jones' order against protests of the jury action at the Portage County Courthouse.

REPORT VANDALISM
City police received a report Monday from the Norfolk and Western Railroad that a switch engine parked on a siding had several holes in the windows. A similar report was received from Production Press, 220 E. Morgan, where three windows had been broken.

ASHLAND WOMEN INJURED IN ONE CAR ACCIDENT
ASHLAND — Two Ashland women, Mrs. Henry (Wilma) Dalton and her daughter, Mrs. Frances Bloomfield, were injured when the small car in which they were riding went out of control on a rain-slick road last week near here.

The auto struck a tree stump. Mrs. Dalton is a patient in Passavant hospital suffering a broken nose and lacerations on her forehead and on her knees. Mrs. Bloomfield was treated at the hospital and released.

The car was completely demolished.

BOMB SHAKES CAPITAL'S POSTOFFICE
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bomb Sunday night shook Washington's main post office, located just two blocks north of the Capitol.

Police said a small package exploded when a container of parcel mail was dumped onto a conveyor. Authorities were trying to determine who sent the package and to whom it was addressed.

Walter R. Smith, 30, a postal worker who was operating a fork-lift, was blown off the vehicle. He suffered only shock.

Postal officials said damage was limited to other parcels on the conveyor.

Youths Charged In Officer's Death

DETROIT (AP)—Acting Mayor Mel Ravitz, who used his body as a shield to guarantee the safe surrender of Black Panthers in a police slaying, says "patience, discipline and hardheaded common sense" kept the incident from being a "showdown—a holocaust."

Meanwhile, 15 black youths were charged Sunday with murder in the shooting death of Patrolman Glenn E. Smith, 26, a Negro. He was shot in the head near the headquarters of the National Committee to Combat Fascism, a Panther organizing group.

Police said they arrested two other persons in connection with the burning of three cars, including two police vehicles.

Heavily armed police waited in the shadows for nine hours Saturday night and early Sunday as black attorneys and a black newspaperwoman entered the headquarters and convinced 12 of the charged youths to give themselves up.

Ravitz, white, and Councilman Nicholas Hood and State Rep. James Del Rio, black, met the youths at the sidewalk of the two-story building and escorted them to a nearby police vehicle, where arrests were made.

Three other youths decided to stay behind, but they were routed from the building shortly afterward when police moved in and fired tear gas shells. They were uninjured.

Two Burglaries Reported Here

Jacksonville city police investigated a burglary at the Jacksonville Elks Club, 231 West Morgan, and sheriff's deputies probed a burglary at the VFW Club, east of the city.

Two safes in the Elks Club were punched open and an undetermined amount of cash and checks taken.

Entrance was made by prying open an employee's entrance.

At the VFW Club, sheriff's deputies said entrance was gained by breaking a window on the east side of the building. Missing was an undetermined amount of cash from several vending machines in the club room.

Both burglaries were discovered early Monday.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 27 —
Born today, you are not destined to be a wealthy person, for you put neither your time nor your energy into projects which result in exceptional financial gain. As far as being able to enjoy the comforts of life, however, you can rest assured—for yours is a nature which without a word from you invites help from others in the form of gifts, employment, inclusion in the material and spiritual benefits of others. You will, in fact, know success well—though perhaps not your own.

Gifted with a mind which functions flawlessly, even in the midst of great crises, you have great powers of analysis and are capable of making very discerning decisions. You act with discretion when other people's concerns are at stake—though you are somewhat inclined to forget discretion when you have only yourself to think of. Give yourself the same "breaks" you give others and you will better your success score.

You are favored in having a special magnetism that works with masses of people. Your presence before an audience is all it takes to gain the support of that audience—and this is an aspect of your personality which you must guard well, for it could be misused by those who would gain their own ends at the expense of others.

Wednesday, October 28
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Great emotional activity belies your external calm. You are wise to keep inner turmoil to yourself for the time being, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Not all of today's activities will suit your purpose. Don't be discouraged should a setback result from morning impulses.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Make your criticism constructive—or keep silent. It does no good to harp on past mistakes; look to the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Take on more responsibility and you will automatically be able to assume more authority. Your place in the family is assured.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—The wise Pisces will look toward achieving a better use for his talents. Abilities at the moment may be going to waste.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Don't allow your position to be interpreted falsely by another. Keep your eyes and ears open to what is being said about you.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—The imaginative Taurus has the best chance of succeeding in a new field today. Place your trust in one who has prior experience.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—A complicated idea may cause you to bog down temporarily. Master the new concept and all should go well once more.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—A wide range of activities may make results a bit shallow in quality today—though the quantity should be sufficient for your purpose.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—An important financial matter with legal overtones should be settled at once. To allow a continuation of present conditions is foolish.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)—Don't allow yourself to become involved in matters which are really none of your concern. Have regard for others.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A practical level suits your purpose far better than an ethereal plane of thought. Bring your ideas down to earth.

BOOSTERS CLASS MEETS AT CHURCH IN ROODHOUSE
ROODHOUSE — The Boosters class of the United Methodist church met at the church Thursday, Oct. 22, with the president, Lloyd Bell, presiding. Following the potluck supper, the devotions were given by Mrs. John W. Roberts, who spoke on "Looking to the Windows."

The program was provided by Bernie and David Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, rural White Hall. Playing a saxophone solo was Bernie Smith, who was accompanied on the piano by his brother, who also played a piano solo.

Hosting the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Campbell.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the ironies of Hollywood's strange economics is the fact that the president of the Directors Guild of America has spent the last three years making films abroad.

Delbert Mann has returned from filming his third full-length classic in Europe. The first two, "Heidi" and "David Copperfield," were hailed as television achievements. The third, "Jane Eyre," is due on NBC next March. It stars George C. Scott and Susannah York.

All three classics were previously filmed in Hollywood—"Heidi" with Shirley Temple in 1937, "David Copperfield" with W. C. Fields and Freddie Bartholomew in 1935, "Jane Eyre" with Orson Welles and Joan Fontaine in 1944.

Why couldn't they be made here now?

"Audiences have become too sophisticated," Mann explained. "You can't fool them with back-lot sets any more. 'Heidi' has to be made in Switzerland, and 'Copperfield' in the settings Dickens wrote about."

"The same for 'Jane Eyre.' We spent 5½ weeks in Yorkshire filming the moors that the Brontës wrote about. Nowadays you have to go where the scenery—and the actors—are."

Actors are another important element. British stars are especially willing to play small roles if the characters warrant their presence; thus Mann was able to persuade Laurence Olivier, Wendy Hiller and Richard Attenborough to play minor parts in "Copperfield."

"These three films have been a great experience for me," said Mann, Oscar winner for "Marty" in 1955. "Never have I worked on projects in which I had more artistic and creative freedom."

"These films came along at a very good time for me. It's hard to express this without seeming to speak from a soap box. But the fact is that I just don't like a large percentage of the pictures that are being made today. That's why it's such a pleasure to be making films that are undeniably family entertainment."

Mann remarked that his only restriction was in time—the films must be timed to fit two-hour network periods.

ALVA BARNETTS OF ROODHOUSE WED 25 YEARS
ROODHOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. Alva Barnett celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a dinner held at the Blackhawk in Jacksonville Wednesday. Attending besides the celebrating couple were a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Cummins, Springfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blundy of Roodhouse.

THIS IS YOUR SENATOR

On June 30, 1969 the Illinois State Senate unanimously adopted the following resolution which was sponsored by all members of the Senate including all Democrats and Republicans.

"WHEREAS, The Senate has within its ranks a dedicated and distinguished legislator, G. William Horsley; and

"WHEREAS, Senator Horsley has, this session, as in his many previous sessions, done an outstanding job of scrutinizing the bills of this General Assembly and of detecting those bills which are not good legislation; and

"WHEREAS, He has spent countless hours "bill hawking" in order to continue his many years of constructive influence; and

"WHEREAS, His name has been synonymous with ability and integrity and his superb actions this session will continue that reputation; therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, BY THE SENATE OF THE SEVENTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS, that we heartily commend and congratulate Senator G. William Horsley for his enthusiastic job of "bill hawking;" that we express our appreciation to him for this active and energetic task; and that a suitable copy of this preamble and resolution be presented to Senator G. William "Hawk" Horsley."

LEE MUELLER
British Ask Question You Don't Answer

By LEE MUELLER
LONDON (NEA) — "All right, old sport, what do you think of the British?" This oblique question is put to nearly every American who comes here. Invariably, and perhaps significantly, it is always put to him at tea by an Englishman with a slight twinkle in his eye, with a slight uncomfortable huskiness in his voice, with a slight twitching in his left foot.

It is oblique because the Englishman really doesn't want to know, he really doesn't, but he does. You may try to put him off. You may ask him what he thinks of an elbow or of the future of the corned beef sandwich in a civilized society, but an Englishman is not easily put off.

Jim: "Here is a quiet hand that comes close to setting a record for number of mistakes made. North started out by overbidding so as to get his side to a rather impossible no-trump game. Then the defense co-operated to let South bring it in."

Oswald: "A diamond opening would have been a real killer but we can't really criticize West's choice of the queen of hearts. It would take a seventh son of a seventh son to find that diamond opening."

Jim: "There was nothing wrong with South's play. He went right up with dummy's ace of hearts and led the jack of spades. East took his king and immediately played the king and another heart. At this point, South made the brilliantly deceptive discard of the six of spades."

Oswald: "Without this little bit of flimflam, the chances are that West would have found the club shift. As it was, West just led his fourth heart to dummy's ten. This time, South shed a losing club, knocked out East's ace of spades and made the rest of the tricks."

Jim: "East was bitterly critical of his partner's failure to lead a club. He pointed out that, unless he, East, held the club king, there would be no way to defeat the three no-trump contract."

Oswald: "East was just about right on that point, but I have to charge most of the blame to East. East had a cinch play of the king of clubs when he got in with the king of spades. He could count two spades and two hearts, so that one club would be enough to set the contract."

Betty Canary Strike Blow For Mothers' Lib

Cooler weather brings on the queries of young mothers who face the prospect of being trapped within four cozy walls. They are asking, "Is this all there is?"

For the young mother who spends most of her waking hours cleaning shoe polish off the basement walls as she sighs, "Thank heavens, he didn't spray it in his eyes!" all I can tell her is, No, this isn't all there is. There's the mess little Susan made on the bathroom sink with the striped toothpaste; and as soon as you've finished that up, you'll notice the garbage on the kitchen floor.

Most of these women are careful to mention how very much they do love their children. After all, they know any mother who doesn't whoop with delight over the prospect of spending 24 solid hours a day trapped inside the house with preschoolers is regarded with suspicion. They know that in this country "young motherhood" is considered an exalted position—one preceded in honor only by a Girl Scout holding a piece of apple pie while she salutes the flag.

However, the important thing is learning how to live into OLD motherhood and how to reach that point in life with a mind reasonably intact. I see no reason to waste time giving tips, such as how to lock up the toothpaste or how to set the garbage on top of the refrigerator. They already know these things. They also know kids who can pick locks designed to mystify Houdini and kids who can push chairs and stand on them and make a bigger mess by spilling garbage on themselves as well as the floor.

I can tell them the most successful old mothers got that way by thinking of themselves almost as often as they thought of others. They didn't survive by being soft. They may have looked soft on the outside; but, inside, they're strung together with piano wire. They didn't "find" time, they made time for themselves, even if, at first, it was only an hour a day. (You don't drink all year round drink a full bottle of whisky in one night. And suddenly they are friendly . . . so friendly. Then the next day they go back to being stiff and strange."

Many Britons, of course, are not stiff and strange. They are, as they like to say, the salt of the earth. Helpful, courteous kind; a regular Boy Scout troop. But some of these other guys . . .

A long cough interrupted the lecture. "One lump or two?" asked the Englishman, sighing. He didn't want to know, really.

Betty Canary now comes in book form. Her "Surviving as a Woman" is available at book and department stores and also by mail to readers of this newspaper. Send check or money order for $5.95 to: Betty Canary Book, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Please allow three weeks for delivery.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Uruguayans may have something to offer the world about resolving differences in economic viewpoints that so often involve a nation's best brains in wasteful arguments that never end.

At least it would seem so, judging by the way last week they came right to the point, so to speak, about the merits and deficiencies of the nation's program to cut inflation, which had been as high as 100 per cent a year.

For the moment, let it be said that their point of view showed acute recognition of the futility of further, endless debate, and that they may have supplied a lesson for all nations, the United States especially.

The background: Economists always disagree. If there is anything that is common to that tribe, no matter what their politics, it is their capacity to view events differently.

Given the same set of ingredients, 100 economists would bake 100 different cakes. If, by freakish circumstance, they baked 100 identical cakes they would label them differently. And, some critics maintain, most of them would be half-baked anyway.

Economic debate is no different in Uruguay than it is in the United States, it appears, but the solution is much more conclusive. Uruguayans come to the point, quite decisively. And how? By the sword.

Last week, President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who is on an anti-inflation kick like most other presidents around the world, announced additional measures that included a reduction in government expenses.

This angered Sen. Manuel Flores Mora, whose ideas on economic policy differ sharply. A duel was proposed with the minister of industry and commerce, a fellow by the name of Sanguinetti.

Sanguinetti, whose job is similar to that of Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, brought honor to the administration and defended its policies by cutting Flores Mora on the arm with the tip of his sword.

But Flores Mora's dispute with his economic opponents isn't over. He also disagrees with Jorge Batlle Ibanez, a newspaper editor, and another duel is scheduled to take place after the senator's recovery.

The custom may seem strange and barbaric to Americans, but after only slight reflection one may see and appreciate the intrinsic civility of the procedure. Honor is maintained. And although somebody could be killed, nobody ever is. By custom, the first to sustain a cut is the loser.

The method is also quick and decisive, a dignified substitute for all the prattling and backbiting that so often beclouds rather than clarifies issues. The threat of the sword might slice in half the number of irresponsible statements.

FUNNY BUSINESS

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Investors took to the sidelines Monday as stock market prices slipped downward after an early upward push in slow trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dipped 2.95 points to 756.43. In earlier trading it had advanced a point but quickly fell back.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks dipped .24 points to 45.40.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed down 1.8 points at 257.5, with industrials off 1.2, rails off .24 and utilities off .3.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off .46 points at 83.31.

Big Board volume fell to 9.21 million shares from Friday's turnover of 10.28 million shares.

Of the 1,579 issues traded on the Big Board, 485 advanced and 765 declined.

There were 62 big blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange compared to 68 Friday.

Rubber issues were up. Steels and aircrafts were mixed. All other stock categories were off.

Volume leader on the Big Board was Monsanto, unchanged at 32.

Other Big Board prices included Aetna Life, off 3 at 34 1/4; Ashland Oil, up 2 at 26 1/4; Travelers off 2 at 27; General Motors, off 1 1/4 at 70 1/4; University Computing, off 1 1/2 at 28 1/4; and Honeywell, off 2 1/4 at 76 1/4.

The American Stock Exchange also closed down. The Amex price change index slipped .03 points to 22.06. Of the 1,027 issues traded 305 advanced, 480 declined. Volume was 2.11 million shares, down from Friday's turnover of 2.83 million shares.

SOYBEAN FUTURES LEAD PRICE DROP

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy movement of new crops into the market, plus profit-taking on last week's abrupt upturns forced down futures prices of soybeans, corn and wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

For the session, prices of these three major commodities dropped at least 1 cent below the close last Friday. The January delivery of soybeans finished more than 2 cents down.

At the close, wheat was 1 1/4-1 1/2 cents a bushel lower, December 1.75 1/4; corn was 1/4-1/2 cents lower, December 1.49 1/4; oats were 1/4-1/2 cent lower, December 79 1/4; and soybeans were 1-2 1/4 lower, November 3.04.

Rindt Crowned Circuit Champ, Died Month Ago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Formula 1 Grand Prix circuit is over... and it marks the end of an era in motor sports.

Jochen Rindt, the Austrian who got car sick, was officially crowned the champion Formula 1 driver, although he died in a crash over a month ago.

Belgium's Jackie Ickx won Sunday's Mexican Grand Prix, the 13th and final race of the circuit. It was his third triumph—all after Rindt's death—and gave him second place in the championship standings.

It was a year in Grand Prix racing that saw not only Rindt but Bruce McLaren die and marked the final year of competition for the Australian veteran, Jack Brabham.

Ickx wheeled his Ferrari over the 3.2 mile circuit at Mexico City in 1:53:28.36, a Mexican Grand Prix record. His average speed was 106.780 miles per hour and he also had the fastest lap—1:08.491 m.p.h.

There were no injuries as by some miracle, the unruly crowd—estimated at 250,000—avoided disaster. Many rushed on to the track at various times, delaying the start for more than an hour.

"I have never seen anything like this," Ickx said in the pits following his victory. "That was a very bad crowd. The road kept getting narrower and narrower. People were crowding the track on both sides."

After Ickx crossed the finish line, the flag man waved frantically at the drivers trying to get them to stop as soon as possible and not make the customary extra lap.

There were deaths, however, in another Sunday auto race. Three drivers were killed in two separate accidents in what was to have been a gala grand finale for auto racing at the 50-year-old Sacramento, Calif., fairgrounds.

Ickx took the lead in the second lap at Mexico City and increased his margin as the cars continued to wheel around the circuit. Switzerland's Clay Regazzoni was second, followed by Denis Hulme of New Zealand, Chris Amon, also of New Zealand, and France's Jean-Pierre Beltoise.

Brabham, who had announced previously his intention to retire after the Mexican Grand Prix, was in third place for two-thirds of the race, but pulled out with engine trouble.

Killed in Sacramento were Ernie Pursell, 27, of Nevada City, Calif.; Walt Reiff, 41, of Anaheim, Calif.; and Jimmie Gordon, 28, of Sacramento.

Pursell died in the first heat race of the four-event program and Reiff, who was watching the race from inside the track, was struck by another car when he vaulted the guardrail and tried to flag down approaching autos after Pursell's car crashed.

Gordon's car flipped end over end and was hit by another car and exploded in the 35th lap of a 100-lap event. The race was called at that point and Jerry Blundy of Galesburg, Ill., declared the winner.

Mark Donahue of Media, Pa., who had the pole position led all the way to win the L&M Grand Prix Formula A race at Sebring. He drove his Nova-Chevy at an average of 122.25 m.p.h. England's David Hobbs was second in a Surtees-Chevy while comedian Dick Smothers finished sixth.

The 500-mile NASCAR Grand National stocker event at Rockingham, N.C., was rained out Sunday.

FIRE IN DRYER BURNS 2,000 BUSHELS OF CORN

BEARDSTOWN — Fire blazed on a corn dryer resulted in the loss of an estimated 2,000 bushels of corn on the Charles Turner farm.

Firemen were called to the home in Sangamon Valley shortly after they had held a regular business meeting at the city hall Thursday night, and they fought the blaze for several hours.

Firemen said that a large amount of the shelled corn was shoveled out of the bin before it caught fire.

The farm is situated in the Sangamon Valley neighborhood several miles east of Beardstown.

Officers in attendance will be Clena Dyon, member of the board of supreme managers, St. Ann; Ruth Riley, state supervisor of West Central Illinois, Moline; and Lamela Greene, district deputy, Jerseyville.

The meeting is under the supervision of Wilmoth Todd, Roodhouse county oracle. The evening meal will be served at 6:30 by the Della Philathea class of the First Baptist church. Reservations must be in by October 26; call Jessie G. Smith, 589-4967.

Truck Flips And Crushes Greene County Native

JERSEYVILLE — Hubert Francis Shaw, 46, of 213 Spruce St., Jerseyville, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Jersey Community hospital at 3:55 p.m. Thursday following a one-car accident near Nutwood, Ill.

Shaw, an employee of the Hansen Packing Co., apparently lost control of the van type vehicle on wet pavement on Route 100 two miles north of Pere Marquette State Park lodge. The truck reportedly ran off the west side of the road before it flipped over and landed on top of Shaw, police stated.

A coroner's inquest is pending.

Shaw was born in Carrollton Nov. 21, 1923, and spent all of his life in this area. Surviving are his widow, Eunice Gardner Shaw; two daughters, Michelle Allen of Jerseyville and Miss Margaret Shaw of Jerseyville; a son, Clyde of Jerseyville; six brothers, Paul of Fieldon; George of Frederick, Md.; James of Charleston, Ark.; Claude of Jerseyville; John of Chesterfield; and Calvin of Shipman; and two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Turner of Jerseyville and Mrs. Chris Wilkerson of Jerseyville. He was a veteran of World War II and a member of Worthy Post American Legion.

The Rev. Louis E. Kappler and the Rev. Harry Frazier, both of Jerseyville conducted funeral services at 1 p.m. Sunday at Jacoby Brothers Funeral Home in Jerseyville.

Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery, where the American Legion and the VFW of Jerseyville held graveside services.

Bluffs Driver Injured Sunday

An 18-year-old Bluffs young man was listed in "satisfactory" condition at Passavant hospital. Phillip G. Koppelman of Bluffs was injured in a one-car accident at about 1:30 a.m. Sunday two miles west of Chapin on the Chapin-Bluffs blacktop.

Koppelman reportedly lost control of his car as he rounded a curve, and then swerved to avoid hitting a dog in the roadway. The car went into the ditch, overturned and came to rest on its side against a telephone pole. There was extensive damage to the car.

Koppelman was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

KETTLE STEW IS SERVED COUPLES CLUB IN GREENE

WHITE HALL — The Presbyterian Couples club met October 19 at the church with 47 members present. Mr. and Mrs. George Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strang were hosts.

Guests were greeted with a Halloween theme, yellow and black tapers, hedge balls, pumpkin faces and jack-o-lanterns. Mulligan stew was served from a copper kettle, on what appeared to be burning logs.

Devotions centering on "All Saints' Day" were given by Rev. Harvey Meckfessel, and L. V. Kinser presented "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

DIST. 117 BAND PARENTS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Jacksonville Band Parents will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 28, in the Band Room on Jordan street. Parents of Turner and JHS band students are urged to attend. Mrs. Edwin Ahlquist will preside. A report will be made of the chicken fry.

For students to benefit by summer camp and other ways provided by funds from Band Parents association, memberships must be held by the family of the student. Mrs. John Oliver is membership chairman and accepting the dollar membership dues at all meetings or by mailing to her on Jacksonville route three.

Bakalis' Anonymity Poses Uphill Battle

By JOSEPH H. HEBERT
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The campaign circuit is still new to Michael Bakalis, the 32-year-old educator who jumped into state politics last March because of "a strong distaste" for Ray Page, current superintendent of public instruction.

Carrying the Democratic party's banner into the Nov. 3 election, Bakalis is fighting an uphill battle not only against Page, a former Springfield teacher and basketball coach, but also against anonymity.

"There are many who said last March I didn't have a ghost of a chance to win," Bakalis told a reporter recently, "but I'm telling you I'm going to win. I know that."

Although Bakalis has the support of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and a strong candidate in Adlai Stevenson III leading the ticket, Bakalis is still considered the underdog by most.

"How do you get to 12 million people," he says rhetorically as his well worn campaign station wagon rolled along the streets of a northern Chicago suburb.

Because of a shortage of campaign funds, Bakalis has searched for votes through personal appearances and a scattering of talk shows and news interviews. He has made almost no paid television spots and has no billboards.

The Bakalis budget is expected by the candidate's aides to reach $150,000, but Bakalis admits, "we should be spending up to a quarter of a million."

As a result, Bakalis has crammed a half dozen appearances into one day—many of them hand shaking, leaflet passing expeditions at shopping centers and on sidewalks. His travels are centered on the Chicago area with occasional forays into the population centers downstate where Page is strongest.

The youthful Bakalis, who many at first glance mistake for an aide instead of the candidate, has hammered strongly at his opponent "for not talking about the issues" and refusing to debate.

On occasions Bakalis alludes to charges of "unaccountability" in Page's offices referring to alleged misuse of funds by the incumbent superintendent. But rarely is it delved upon as a key issue.

Instead, the assistant dean at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb and holder of a PhD from Northwestern, tells the voters he wants "a greater interrelationship" in public education and says there is a "need to professionalize and depoliticize" the office of the superintendent.

"A major reason for the ineffectiveness of the office of superintendent of public instruction in the past has been its excessive involvement in partisan politics," Bakalis charges.

Among other issues, he says, are reorganization of school districts, more funds for special education and establishment of a state board of education, which might eventually appoint the superintendent.

If voters pass the proposed constitution Dec. 15 the superintendent's job will become appointive. Bakalis has endorsed the change, but undoubtedly would like to be the office holder when the switch is made.

She Uses Emery Board On Her Chipped Crystal

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—I am answering Doreen who did not know what to do with the chipped rims on her crystal champagne glasses. My aunt solved a similar problem by taking her glasses to a local jeweler and having the tops ground. This was quite inexpensive. While there is a slight difference in the height of the glasses, as some chips were deeper than others, this is not noticeable when they are in use, just when stored next to each other on a shelf.—MRS. D.L.R.

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Doreen that I have removed sharp edges from nicks in crystal with an emery board. I carefully use the fine side of the board until the sharpness is dull or smooth to the touch. A fine jeweler told me to do this.—ETHEL

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I would like some suggestions from the readers as to how they "set" colors in garments they are dyeing at home. When I dye anything the colors run until I am back to the original color.—JEAN
DEAR JEAN—I am sure the girls will come up with some helpful pointers for you, but I wonder if you carefully read and then follow the directions that are on the dye package.—POLLY
DEAR POLLY—To get rid of those cobwebs that will be gathering on the walls and ceiling this winter, cut nylon net scraps into any large shape. Tie them securely to the end of a yardstick, mop or broom handle and just brush the net carefully and lightly over the hanging web. This will leave no mark. No step ladder is needed as you can reach while standing on the floor.—S.E.G.

DEAR POLLY—Since boots have become an important part of many women's wardrobes, storing them in a closet has presented problems. Instead of keeping mine in the large boxes in which they come, I hang them from a multiple skirt hanger. This keeps them in shape and off the floor and shelves so I have a neater closet.—ADRIENNE

CLOTHES CARE TODAY

By RUTH E. HOWARD

A fabric has character—when you wear it—it takes on personality. Heading the vegetable fibers is cotton. This is an inexpensive fiber from cotton pods, and is absorbent, heat resistant and versatile. Texas is the largest producer of cotton.

Next comes linen. Linen is strong, non-elastic, smooth and absorbent. Most likely linen was the earliest vegetable fiber in use, having been found in Egyptian tombs more than 3500 years old. It was the principal European textile of the Middle Ages. Today Ireland is the chief producer of linen fabric. Russia produces the largest quantity of flax fiber, while Belgium grows the finest flax.

From hemp we get long, strong, pliable fiber used for fabrics and coarse rope.

SENATE RACES

Of the 34 Senate seats at stake in the 1970 elections, 24 are now held by Democrats, nine by Republicans and one by an independent—Virginia's Sen. Harry Byrd, elected in 1964 as a Democrat. Republicans, now the Senate minority party, need a net gain of seven seats to take control.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Smoke Cigarettes And Suffer

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Dear Doctor—I've heard that isometric exercises are good for you. What are isometric exercises? Are they good for the heart?

Dear Reader—Isometric exercises are those that involve tensing a muscle without moving it. As an example, hold out your arm and tense all the muscles in the arm and hand, making the arm and hand rigid. This form of tensing is an isometric exercise. The opposing muscles work or contract against each other. If the muscle moves, like in running, push-ups or any exercise causing lengthening or shortening of the muscle, it is NOT isometric. Isometric exercises firm up the muscles and increase their strength. It is doubtful that they help the heart and circulation in the way walking, jogging or active exercises do.

Cigarettes are high on the list of our "civilized" habits associated with poor health. Cigarette consumption in the United States increased parallel to the rise in heart and vascular disease. Fatty deposits in the arteries and cigarettes were both rare before 1900. Only four billion cigarettes were manufactured in 1900 while the current level is 580 billion annually, or 145 times as many.

Cigarette smoking is a fairly recently acquired habit. Cigars, pipes, chewing tobacco and snuff used to be the major form of tobacco consumption. You may associate cigarette smoking with lung cancer. But that is just the tip of the iceberg. They are implicated in a host of other diseases. The U.S. Department of Public Health points out that there are a million more people with chronic lung disease than there would be if everyone had the same rate observed in non-smokers.

If you are a heavy smoker, your chances of dropping dead or having a heart attack are increased about three times over the likelihood in non-smokers.

There is a relationship between peptic ulcers and cigarette smoking. There are over a million more people with peptic ulcers each year than would occur at rates observed in non-smokers. The more cigarettes you smoke, the greater likelihood you will have a peptic ulcer. Even if you escape an actual ulcer, you may develop a lot of trouble with your stomach that is akin to the difficulties associated with ulcers. If you want to live a short life, cigarettes will help. A 25-year-old man who smokes two packs a day, on the average, will live eight years less than a comparable non-smoker. The more cigarettes you smoke the greater your likelihood of an early death.

Cigarette smoking has decreased in both American men and women. Over 70 per cent of all men used to smoke. Now only 51 per cent smoke. Women cigarette smokers have decreased from 40 per cent to 34 per cent. Cigarette smoking for American men and women has decreased from 55 per cent to the current figure of 42 per cent. Since fewer young people are smoking today, there is reason to hope the rate will drop still farther.

The biggest strides in cutting back cigarette smoking have been observed in people who are better educated than others. Thus cigarette smoking is more and more getting to be a mark of the nonachiever or less-intelligent person.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

CURIOSITY CALLS AT WHITE HALL BUG FIREMEN

WHITE HALL — Fire Chief Shirley Westledge has made a request that residents of the area refrain from calling City Hall each time the fire siren is blown. Each call made to the fire watcher on duty, prevents her from completing the necessary duty of informing firemen as to the location of the fire.

Chief Westledge says if the practice is not discontinued, heavy penalties will be assessed on all violators.

Boyle's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One out of 12 Americans suffers from chronic headaches. Doctors find physical causes in only one out of 10 cases. They believe the other nine result from tensions. The best treatment: lead a calmer life, cut down on needless worrying.

Here's one thing you can quit worrying about: How long will Niagara Falls last? The falls, which are gradually being worn away, are expected to disappear some 22,800 years from now. Why do 350,000 U.S. firms go out of business each year? Chiefly to be blamed is management incompetence, says Dun & Bradstreet, not fires, floods or other natural disasters.

Did you think aerial photography was something new? Actually, the first aerial photographs were made over Paris from a balloon in 1858. Quotable notables: "It annoys many when I talk about blue eyes, but any man who ever amounted to a damn in history had them."—Arthur Brisbane.

Know your language: Ever wonder why "the little red schoolhouse" was red and not some other color? It wasn't for esthetic reasons but because red paint was the cheapest paint. So many school boards painted their schools red to save money that "the little red schoolhouse" became a national symbol of popular education.

For the record: When the idea of an international peacekeeping body was conceived during World War II, it was first called the Associated Powers. It was President Franklin D. Roosevelt who proposed, with Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warm endorsement, that the name be changed to the United Nations.

Long and short of it: Insects have a tremendous range of longevity, depending on their species. Some plant aphids have a life expectancy of only 12 days or less, but a queen termite may rule her wood-consuming subjects for as long as 50 years. Fat fights back: No matter how hard they try, most overweight people appear unable to lose their excess weight permanently. Dr. Morton B. Glenn, New York obesity expert, says, "Eighty-five per cent of all diets fail, but each failure provides a valuable key to successful weight control."

It was Anatole France who observed, "Human justice is different from God's justice, and generally opposed to it."

Players Of The Week

George Haley

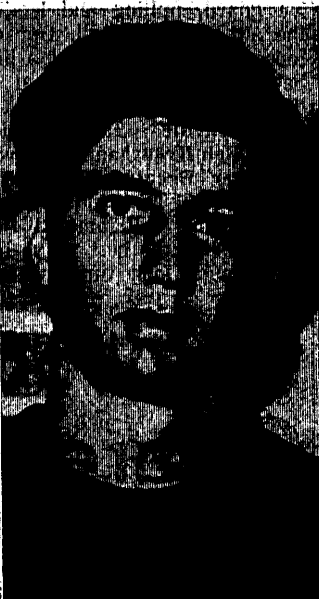

Ted Wise

Senior Ted Wise and junior George Haley were selected players of the week at Jacksonville High school Monday following a 27-14 count over Decatur Eisenhower Saturday evening. Wise, a 190-pound senior defensive tackle, turned in a sound defensive game, while Haley, a speedy 135-pounder, was the Crimsons' top ground gainer and scored one of the four touchdowns.

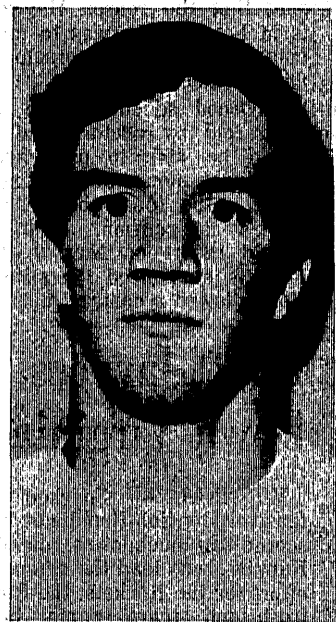

Bob Hacquet

Eric VanTuyle

VanTuyle, a 6-3, 200-pound defensive end from players of the week at Illinois College following the 21-7 victory over Rose Poly Saturday.

VanTuyl, a 6-3, 200-pound defensive end from North Greene, turned in a fine job containing Rose Poly's wide plays, shut off the off-tackle holes and put a fine rush on the passer. Hacquet, a 6-2, 230-pound slot back from Westville, caught a pair of passes for 30 yards and was an outstanding blocker for the other running backs.

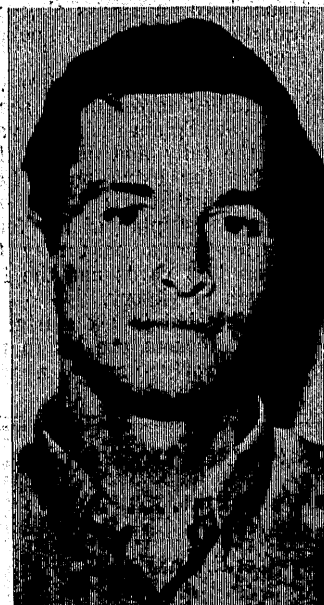

Jerry Green

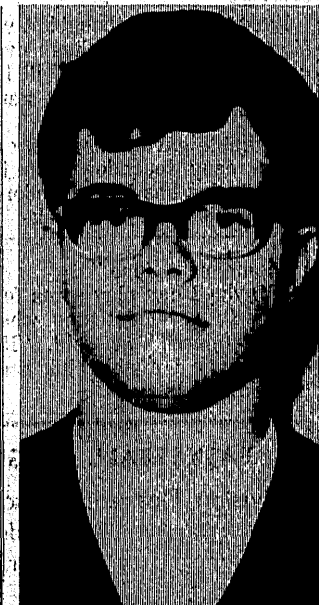

Pat McGinnis

Jerry Green and Pat McGinnis are Routt High school's players of the week coming off 34-0 blanking of Virginia Thursday. Green, a 6-2, 160-pound senior two-way end, ran the end-around four times for good yardage as well as one touchdown and had a fine defensive game. Halfback McGinnis scored twice and picked up 170 yards in 15 carries to be picked for the third time this season.

Ralph Shreeman

Kevin Leonard

Ralph Shreeman and Kevin Leonard are this week's players of the week at the Illinois School for the Deaf following a 21-0 shutout over Meredosia Thursday. Shreeman, a quick 150-pound senior who plays defensive guard, turned in his third consecutive game of playing his post well as he racked up six unassisted tackles to lead the team last week. Leonard, a 145-pound junior, turned in a good performance as a defensive end as well as picking yardage for the Tigers offensively as a halfback.

Clay Stops Quarry In Third

One-Time Champion Again After Title

ATLANTA (AP) — Muhammed Ali, coming back from 3½ years of idleness and frustration, battered young Jerry Quarry into a bloody mess Monday night and won a third round knockout victory that sent him again in pursuit of the heavyweight championship he has never lost.

Referee Tony Perez stopped the bout after the third round ended with blood gushing from an ugly gash over Quarry's left eye.

Decision of the fight based on New York rules, was a technical knockout at the end of the third round.

The announcer, Johnnie Adie, announced to a screaming crowd of 5,000 in the ramshackle Atlanta Municipal Auditorium that Perez found the injury too severe for the fighter to continue.

It was a straight right hand that opened the wound near the end of the third round, but it was only an act of mercy that stopped the fight at the end.

Confident and appearing almost arrogant, Ali made a mockery of the No. 1 heavyweight challenger with left jabs that struck out like an adder's tongue and a right that almost made the ring rock when it landed.

"It was more than a win for a fighter—it was a social victory," said Ali, who was stripped of his crown in 1967 when he refused to take the step for military service.

He was sentenced to five years in jail and fined $10,000 by a federal judge but he appealed the case and never went to jail.

During the past 43 months, when at one time he ballooned to a bulbous 240 pounds, he has made speeches on campuses and carried on his work as Black Muslim minister. Always looking, he said, to the day he would get back his crown.

He now sets his sights on Joe Frazier, a bullman who captured the championship during Ali's absence.

A few minutes after Ali's hand was raised in victory, a physician at ringside said that Quarry's left brow was split and the wound might require as many as ten stitches.

Quarry, 25, reared in the ring tradition and trying to come back from heavyweight title losses to Jimmy Ellis and Frazier, wanted to continue.

In his corner, he pulled away from his father, Jack, and trainer Teddy Bentham, storming and tugging in an attempt to continue the fight.

It was the 24th knockout for the masterful Ali, also known as Cassius Clay, in a professional career that has seen him score 30 victories without a defeat over a ten year period.

Ali, weighing 213½, the second heaviest since he won the title by stopping Sonny Liston in Miami, 1964, was a ruthless machine-like destroyer as he cut Quarry down with merciless ease.

Quarry, 25, losing for the fifth time in a career that has seen him score 23 knockouts weighed 197½.

The impressive victory answered the one vital question for ring buffs around the world. The 23-year-old descendant of a Kentucky slave, whose brassness and boxing brilliance has captivated the world, lost little from his long idleness.

He can still "float like a butterfly and sting like a bee"—a motto coined by his trainer, Bundini Brown—and more than that he can still tell a tree with a punch.

He seems to have proved it now for all concerned.

There was a mixture of shouts amid the rafter-roaring boos as he entered the ring—his black head high in the air and his eyes flashing with fire.

From the beginning, it was evident that Quarry was overmatched.

In the opening round, Ali rocked the California Irishman with two stiff rights to the head and had him reeling as he went to his corner.

"Stick with him when you dance, stick him when you dance," yelled Bundini from his corner.

Probably unhearing but acting from instinct, Ali followed that formula and it was mercilessly effective.

Stab, stab, stab—time after time, Ali's left reached out—almost too quick for the eye to follow—and it landed repeatedly on Quarry's unshaven chin.

Quarry was the relentless stalker, following his plan to "swarm all over Ali." He kept boring forward, but blows rocked off his head so often that even ringers cringed.

Quarry was bruised and beginning to show signs of discouragement as he plopped on his stool after the first round.

In the second, Ali, still erect, a swordsman-competing against a bull, continued to cut away at the aggressor's features. He jabbed. He landed a vicious hook. He scored with right to the head.

As Quarry limped back to his corner after the second round, a huge lump was beginning to show over his left eye. He was bleeding at the mouth. His face was red as an uncooked hamburger.

Then came the decisive third. Quarry battled bravely but the odds were too great. He lunged. He pushed. He kept boring forward. But each time he met a fusillade of Ali punches—sledgehammer shots that looked as if they might tear his head from his neck.

As the two swapped blows in a corner, Ali lashed out with a straight overhand right that caught Quarry over the eye.

Blood oozed. In the ensuing 1½ minutes, Ali jabbed away and Quarry's face was smeared with blood when he went to his corner, a beaten man.

The victory may be worth as much as $1 million to Ali, whose fortune was depleted in his court battle to stay out of jail. Quarry's end of the purse could be near $500,000.

Their exact paydays will be determined when reports are in from the various television receipts. The fight was beamed live via satellite to Europe, Australia, South America, the Far East and even Russia. It was shown on closed circuit in theaters throughout the United States and Canada, with 900,000 available seats.

Ali was guaranteed $250,000 against 42½ per cent of the take. Quarry was guaranteed $150,000 against 22½ per cent of the take.

Illini Back To Normal After Crisis

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois football team returned to a normal practice Monday following a bizarre weekend in which Coach Jim Valek was fired and then rehired.

The practice session was typical for a Monday as the Illini began preparations for the Purdue game.

Valek had no comment and made no reference to the happenings over the weekend which included a 48-29 loss to top-ranked Ohio State despite a fired up effort by the Illini.

Joe Lewis was made the backup tailback behind Darrell Robinson with Mike Walker out for the season with a knee injury.

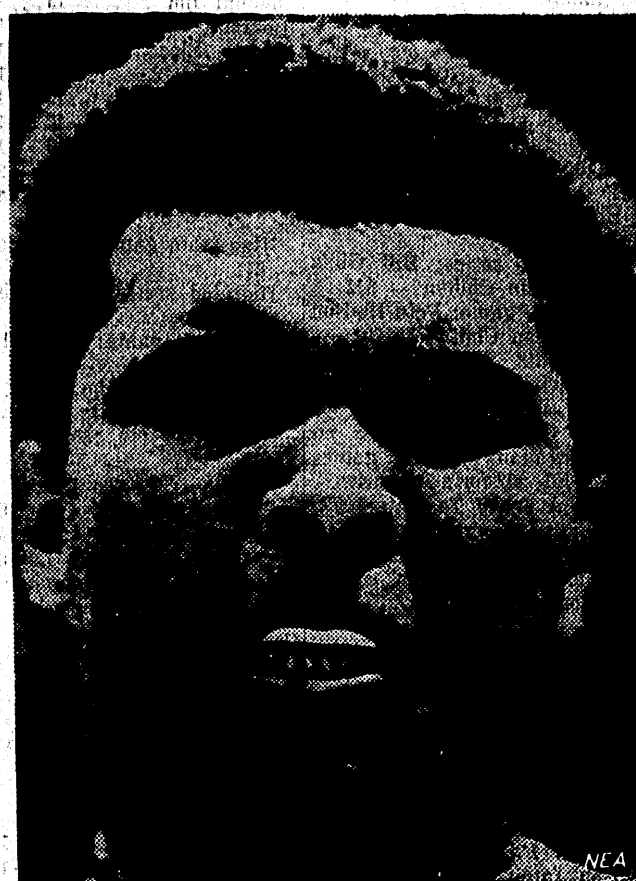

The Illinois Athletic Board had been fired effective after the game against the Buckeyes.

An interim coach was to have been named Sunday but the players said they would not report if Valek was not given an opportunity to finish the season.

Athletic Director Gene Vance and the athletic board backed down and informed Valek he could finish out the season.

Ali: Frazier Easier To Hit

ATLANTA (AP) — Muhammed Ali left a bloody, defeated Jerry Quarry after their Monday night heavyweight fight and predicted that "Joe Frazier will be easier to hit."

Ali, his smooth face still unscathed, is almost certain to battle Frazier for the heavyweight championship if the titleholder gets past Bob Foster in Detroit next month.

"Quarry hits harder than Frazier," said Ali, a calm but coughing victor. "Quarry is also harder to hit."

Ali showed no rust from his 43-month layoff after having the crown taken away in the courts for failing to step forward for the military draft.

"See this drawing," said Ali, holding an amateurish bit of artwork. "I drew that several days ago. It's the boxing ring and the referee is telling me, 'It's all over, Ali, go to your corner.'"

The bronzed native of Louisville, Ky., said he wished the Quarry fight had lasted longer than the third round knockout.

"I needed the work and the longer it lasted, the easier it was to land my punches," said Ali in quiet, unexcited tones. "If Quarry had not been cut so bad, he probably could have gone 10 rounds or so. I wish he had."

Ali said he was suffering from a slight cold. He talked with the giant battery of newsmen as a raging crowd yelled its approval of the triumph outside the doors.

"Quarry was a good boxer, a tricky fighter," he said. "He tries to sucker you in for a big punch. But, he never landed one on me."

Ali again proclaimed that his layoff was no special problem in the comeback before a Deep South audience that was 60 per cent black and dominated by mod, colorful clothes.

"I was nervous before it started, tense like I like to be," said Ali, his trainers Angelo Dundee and Drew "Bundini" Brown sitting silently at his side.

"There was excitement in the live crowd and I'm sure it was that way all over the country, all over the world... even in Russia."

Ali pounded the blond Californian in the first round, but the former champion said he didn't think "it was going to end right then. He could have gone a long way except for the bad cut over his eye."

Dundee said "the guy I saw with Quarry was the same guy that fought Folley" in March 1967. "It was sort of scary."

The widow of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. presented Ali with a Martin Luther King sports medallion. "You are not only the champion of boxing," said Mrs. King, "you are the champion of justice and peace."

Quarry needed 11 stitches to close the gaping wound over his left eye. His father, Jack, said Ali would not have the easy time against Frazier that he predicted.

"Frazier will kill him," said the senior Quarry. "He'll give him more pressure than Clay has ever seen."

Quarry said, "I missed him with a right hand by that much," holding two fingers an inch apart.

"If I had landed that, they would not have had to worry about cuts," said the No. 1 contender. "I didn't want it stopped, but Teddy Bentham (trainer) did the right thing."

Quarry stormed around the bloody ring at the time, trying to get anyone who listened—even Ali—to keep the bout going.

NCAA Proposes Cost Crackdown

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The Financial Aid Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association has formulated a proposal that would drastically cut the amount of money colleges and universities would expend on athletic programs and at the same time tend to equalize competition.

The committee, headed by William J. Flynn, director of athletics at Boston College, presented its proposal in rough form Monday to the powerful 18-man Council of the NCAA.

The council will meet again Tuesday and has scheduled a news conference at noon to announce what action it will take on the committee's sweeping suggestions.

However, an informal poll of several of the council members indicated that the committee proposal probably will be presented for discussion at the next NCAA convention next January.

Basically the proposal would: —Limit the number of scholarships any NCAA member could grant to 30 in football and 6 in basketball.

—Set up a sliding-scale formula under which athletic scholarships could be granted only on the basis of need.

In another sweeping proposal, the committee suggested that all NCAA members in the nation be required to issue their scholarship invitations on the same date, eliminating confusion and sometimes bitter feelings when a high school prospect signs a scholarship with one school, then decided to attend another.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three minor league pitchers were added and two pitchers and an infielder sent to Tulsa of the American Association as the St. Louis Cardinals filled out their 40-player winter roster Monday.

The Cardinals listed the acquisitions as pitchers Don Shaw and Jackie Stripling from Tulsa, and George Winslow from Arkansas of the Texas League.

Sent to the club's Tulsa roster were infielder Wayne Dees and pitchers Tom Hilgendorf and Steve Evans. The Cardinals placed third baseman Mike Shannon, sidelined most of last season with a kidney ailment, on their restricted list.

Jacks Have Hopes In Cross Country

As the defending district champions, the members of the Jacksonville High school cross country team have high hopes of a repeat victory this year as they travel to Quincy this afternoon to compete in the Quincy District of the IHSAA cross country meets held throughout the state today.

The Crimsons, with a 7-1 record in dual and triangular meets this season, face teams from Augusta, Bath, Beardstown, Bushnell, Carthage, Colchester, Hamilton, LaHarpe, Mendon, Mt. Sterling, Quincy, Rushville and White Hall in the district. The teams are competing for the right to advance to the sectional meet to be held at Springfield this Saturday.

Each school entering the district meet is permitted a team of seven runners, with the first five runners to cross the finish line for a team counted in the tabulation for team honors. Schools not entering a team are permitted to enter individual runners.

Leading the participants from JHS in the district this year are senior Bob Ware, who finished 20th in the running at the state meet last year, and Gary Russell, a junior who took 31st at state last year. Also competing are juniors Howie Scott, Rich Mayberry, Rodney Dobson and Bob Hills, and sophomore Ed Flynn. After taking first in the district last year, the Crimsons finished second in the team standings at the sectional and were 15th in a field of 28 teams at the state finals.

The top ten individual runners and the members of the first, second and third place teams from each district center advance to sectional competition. The first, second and third place teams and the first ten individual finishers will then advance to the state final meet to be held at Peoria on Saturday, Nov. 7.

Reflecting on the teams' performance to date and the hopes for the upcoming competition, Coach Frank Long was optimistic.

"The boys have done very well this year," Long said, "with the only loss this season being a three point defeat in a dual meet to a strong Alton squad."

"Bob Ware and Gary Russell are certainly two of the leading runners in the area, and we have high hopes of returning to the state meet this year, starting today with the district."

Fremd High school of Palatine, the defending state champion, is expected to be a strong contender in this year's meet.

Vikings' Defense Topples Rams 13-3

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's brilliantly savage defense hurled back three straight Los Angeles rushes from its one-yard line and the Vikings racked the fumbling Rams 13-3 Monday night in the National Football League.

The Vikings, who had taken a 10-0 lead in the rain-driven game, threw up the goal line stand with time running out in the first half.

Willie Ellison gave the Rams the obvious scoring opportunity by deflecting Tom McNeill's punt. Kermit Alexander of the Rams picked up the ball on his 49 and racked down the sidelines to the Minnesota 2 with 19 seconds left.

Les Josephson was stopped for a one-yard gain to the 1 and Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel was stopped for no gain as time ran out in the second period. But referee Fred Silva gave the Rams another play when the Vikings held Gabriel in the mud of the goal-post shadows.

But again the left side of the Minnesota defense held. The demoralized Rams could only get a 23-yard field goal son, the Broncos said.

Matte injured his left knee in the season opener and on his return to action Sunday, he was reinjured on the first play when he slipped and fell on a pass pattern without being hit.

SURGERY FOR EDGERSON DENVER (AP) — Denver Bronco cornerback Booker Edgers, who suffered a knee injury Sunday in a National Football League game with the San Francisco 49ers, was to undergo surgery Monday and be out of action the rest of the season, the Broncos said.

But again the left side of the Minnesota defense held. The demoralized Rams could only get a 23-yard field goal son, the Broncos said.

Mac Tries To Regain Momentum At Home

MacMurray's soccer Highlanders will attempt to regain momentum toward a possible post-season tournament bid next week, when they host the formidable Blackburn College Beavers in a 3 p.m. contest on Wednesday (Oct. 28), and travel to Earlham College

(Richmond, Ind.) on Saturday. MacMurray, now 6-1 on the year following a 1-0 loss to Kenyon College of Ohio, should face tough competition from the undefeated, 6-0 Blackburn team. Blackburn features the one-two scoring leaders in the NAIA District 20 listings: Tom Beaver (15 goals and 5 assists) and Wasio Odofin (13 goals and 3 assists).

Service Club Volleyball Set For YMCA

The entry deadline for the Service Club Volleyball League now being formed at the YMCA has been set for Nov. 14, according to an announcement made by "Y" executive director, Don Hardesty.

Each service club will be permitted to enter one team. No roster is required as every member is eligible to play, but no player may play for two different clubs. Six players are needed for each game.

Play will be round robin with the team with the best won-lost percentage being declared league champion.

The playing time for the league will be on Monday nights from 8:30 to 10:00 with practice sessions beginning on Nov. 23 and League play set to start on Dec. 7.

A rotating plaque will be presented to the winning team for club display throughout the year. First club to win three championships will retire the plaque.

The entry fee is $10.00 per team, with a player participation fee for non-YMCA members of $50.

Quincy Frosh Rap Crimsons

QUINCY — unbeaten so far this season, the frosh team from Quincy rolled to a 60-24 victory over the visiting Crimsons freshmen in the game played Monday afternoon.

Quincy was led by Bill Thompson and Jimmy Gay, who each scored three touchdowns in the first half for the victors.

JHS scored in the first half via a 60-yard run by Ben Denny and a pass from Warren Lewis to Jim Fry for the conversion. Gerald Halligan threw to Lewis for the second touchdown on a play that covered 50 yards.

The young Crimsons scored twice in the second half on pass catches by Kim Fisher and Frank Walker for 40 and 35 yards respectively. Brad Mills finished the scoring with the P.A.T. on the last touchdown.

Next game for the Crimsons is Saturday morning at home against Quincy Catholic Boys.

Dallas, Tarkenton In Explosive Mood

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hank Stram has been short-changed by the Dallas Cowboys — Duane Foster and Bob Hayes splitting the difference.

Foster and Hayes exploded for game-breaking touchdowns in the third quarter Sunday as the Cowboys bounced back from their darkest National Football League hour to whip Stram's Kansas City Chiefs 27-16.

Hayes, making his first start of the season, turned a Craig Morton pass into an 89-yard scoring burst minutes after Foster, a hard-running rookie, sped 47 yards for a touchdown.

"Those plays were the difference," said Stram, whose Super Bowl champs were jeered by a home crowd of 51,158 as they absorbed their third setback in six games.

The victory gave Dallas a 4-2 mark and a share of first place in the National Conference's Eastern Division—one week after the Cowboys took a 54-13 pounding from Minnesota.

"We didn't do anything different against Kansas City," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry insisted. "We just played football. We didn't play football against Minnesota."

Fran Tarkenton's five touchdown passes led the New York Giants past St. Louis 35-17, dropping the Cardinals into a tie with Dallas for the NFC East lead.

Elsewhere, 43-year-old George Blanda fired Oakland to a 31-14 victory over Pittsburgh; Baltimore more drubbed Boston 27-3; Cleveland pounded Miami 28-0; Washington blanked Cincinnati 20-0; Detroit shaded Philadelphia 30-17; San Francisco edged Denver 19-14; Atlanta trimmed New Orleans 32-14; Buffalo nipped the New York Jets 10-6 and San Diego played Houston to a 31-31 standoff.

Minnesota entertains Los Angeles tonight in a nationally televised clash of NFL powerhouses.

The Cowboys, beaten by Kansas City 13-0 in a pre-season exhibition, spotted the Chiefs an early touchdown, then limited the three Jan Stenerud field goals to the rest of the way.

Thomas, shouldering the running load after Calvin Hill went out with a muscle spasm, scored the go-ahead touchdown on a short plunge after Mike Clark booted a pair of field goals.

The 220-pound Thomas tallied the decisive touchdown on a draw play before Hayes took Morton's pass on the Dallas 45 and raced the rest of the way for the wrap-up score.

Tarkenton sent the Giants to their third straight victory, snapping a four-game St. Louis winning streak in the process, with the first five-touchdown spree of his career.

He completed all of his 10 pass attempts in the first half and was 15-for-18 over-all, with two scoring strikes to rookie Bob Tucker and one each to Aaron Thomas, Cliff McNeil and Don Hermann.

Blanda came off the Oakland bench after Daryle Lamonica was sidelined by a pinched nerve in his back and riddled the Steelers with three touchdown passes. He also booted a field goal and four extra points.

The Colts spilled Joe Kapp seven times for losses and picked off three of his passes while Johnny Unitas split the Patriots' secondary for three scores.

The Colts' fourth straight victory, coupled with Miami's loss to Cleveland, sent them into sole possession of first place in the American Conference's Eastern Division.

Bill Nielsen passed for two Cleveland scores and linebacker Dale Lindsey rambled 56 yards with a pass interception for another as the AFC's Central Division leaders battered the Dolphins before a crowd of 75,313—largest ever to see a Miami regular season game.

Washington posted its first shutout victory in six years, stopping the Bengals cold while Sonny Jurgensen and Charlie Taylor combined on a pair of touchdown strikes.

The Lions came from behind at Chicago for their fifth victory in six starts as Errol Mann booted field goals of 49, 43 and 31 yards.

Three field goals by Dale Livingston and a 78-yard interception return by Doug Hart led Green Bay past the winless Eagles.

Bruce Gossett kicked four field goals as San Francisco overcame the Broncos for a 4-1-1 mark.

Tom McCauley scored on a 77-yard punt return, longest in Atlanta history, as the Falcons beat the Saints for the second time.

Wayne Patrick drove three yards for a fourth quarter touchdown after a 40-yard pass from rookie Dennis Shaw to Haven Moses, giving Buffalo its second victory over the skidding Jets, who played without injured Joe Namath for the first time in 78 games.

San Diego gained a tie with the Oilers on an 80-yard scoring pass from Marty Domres to Lance Alworth with less than four minutes to play.

Mary Schnelten Of Carrollton Dies Saturday

CARROLLTON — Miss Mary Schnelten, 90, a lifetime resident of Carrollton died at 11 p.m. Saturday at Reich Memorial Home following an extended illness.

She was born west of Carrollton January 12, 1880, daughter of Gerhard and Anna Elizabeth Grueter Schnelten.

Surviving are two brothers, Henry and Anthony, both of Carrollton; and two sisters, Mrs. Frances Schmitz of Carrollton and Miss Rose Schnelten of St. Louis. There are several nieces and nephews.

She was the oldest of 11 children. Five sisters and one brother preceded her in death. The deceased attended the local Catholic school and Ursuline Academy at Springfield. She was a member of St. John's Catholic church, the Altar Society and Centerville club.

The remains are at the Hires Funeral Home, where friends may call.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the St. John's Catholic church with Rev. Robert Morris officiating. Interment will be in St. John's cemetery.

Edna Strickler Dies On Sunday, Rites Wednesday

Mrs. Edna Strickler, 78, 301 West Beecher avenue, widow of Thomas Strickler, died at 4:15 p.m. Sunday at Passavant hospital, where she became a patient that day.

Mrs. Strickler was born in Morgan county June 8, 1892, daughter of Lee and Jennie Womelsdorf Mason.

Surviving are these children: Esther, wife of David Newby of Concord; Harold of Park Forest; Virgil of Chapin; Donald of Quincy; Robert, Jacksonville; and Bernice, wife of Robert Drake, Jacksonville. There are 12 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Two brothers and a sister survive: Russell Mason, Murfreesboro; Byron Mason, Jacksonville; and Mrs. Irene Jones of Litchfield.

The deceased was a member of the Concord United Methodist church.

The remains are at the Williamson Funeral Home, where the family will meet friends 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Concord United Methodist church with Rev. Delmar Redmon officiating. Interment will be in Concord cemetery. The remains will be taken to the church one hour before funeral time. The family suggests those wishing to consider memorials to the Concord Methodist church.

Ray Page's Banner 'Quality Education'

By ANN McFEATHERS
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —

Ray Page is seeking his third term as Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction and says that he is basing his campaign on what he's accomplished for the past eight years.

Page says his campaign slogan is "quality education for all children and youth."

Page, 48, a Republican, tells campaign audiences, "I said in 1962 (when he first took office) that I was for quality education and now Illinois has the top, number 1, department of education in the world."

His opponent in the November 3 general election is a political newcomer, Michael Bakalis. Page says he isn't worried.

He has been campaigning heavily since Labor Day because "you have to keep up the momentum." And also, he concedes, because the people don't seem to be particularly interested in the election this year.

The only other issue Page bears down on is a popular Republican theme — campus unrest.

He got enthusiastic response from one group recently when he said: "If we can kick a youngster out of college for failing a course, then we should be able to kick him out for burning your building or destroying property that was paid for by taxpayers."

A lifelong resident of the Springfield area, Page refers to the years he spent as a history teacher, to his late father's teaching career and to the Springfield high school basketball team that he coached to a state championship in 1959. His victory in 1962 for the state superintendent's post was considered an upset.

He attributes his move into politics to the contacts he made as a coach and to his experience managing grandstand ticket sales at the Illinois State Fair.

There have been charges of impropriety during his eight years in office. Page has been accused of: using money from a handicapped children's fund to pay for photographs of himself; forcing employees to contribute to a "welfare fund" — since renamed a campaign fund; and questionable purchasing practices.

Page says the allegations are untrue, that facts have been distorted by his political enemies. Page says he counts on downstate support and plans to spend about $200,000 for his campaign, much of it for newspaper and radio ads. He plans no television spots.

Page has endorsed the Constitutional Convention Proposal to make the superintendent's job appointive. He also wants an elected state school board. Con-Con proposed a state board but did not specify whether it would be elected or appointed.

Whatever the topic, Page returns to his record, stressing: Special Education — "We do more for the mentally and physically handicapped." School Aid — "When I took office the foundation level of state aid was $252 (per pupil), now it's $520."

Vocational Training — "We're getting away from the isolation booth, from taking the kid who has everything and sticking him in a shop class."

"These are the things Ray Page stands for," says Page, who has a disconcerting habit of referring to himself in the third person.

"The key issue," Page says, "is the record of achievement of Ray Page."

State Prexy Installs Ten New Jaycees

Jaycee State president Joe McHugh of Northbrook was the main speaker at the last meeting of the Jacksonville Jaycees. President McHugh explained the national Jaycee "Do Something" project, recently accepted by the Jacksonville chapter.

Ten new members were inducted into the Jaycees by President McHugh. They were Mike Fox, Anderson-Clayton; Dick Hanks, ISD; Kelly Keller, Creditthrift; Jim Kelly, Morgan County Service Co.; Jerry McCleary, Metropolitan Life; Dave Slagle, Rid-All Pest Control; Bob Voght, New York Life; Don Brown, Williamson Funeral Home; Bill Fairfield, barber; and Pat Finley, Mobil Chemical.

Guest speaker, Gordon Fish, explained the Park District Referendum, which will be an issue in the November 3 elections. The Jaycees accepted the project to handle the bumper sticker portion of the Park District campaign.

Jacksonville Jaycees approved a project to promote and push for a railroad underpass to expedite traffic to Passavant hospital and to help in firefighting in the northwest area of the community.

Speak-Up contestants this week were Tom O'Brien, "A Day for Action—November 3," and Don Winkelman, "That Economic Justice Can Best Be Won by Free Men through Free Enterprise."

Guests for the evening were Bob Jarrett, National Foods, and Bill Templin, Colton Insurance. Seven White Hall Jaycees attended the meeting, including Don Nell, State vice president.

The next meeting of the Jacksonville Jaycees will be hosted by the YMCA at 6:30 p.m. October 27. An evening meal will be catered and the Jaycees are invited for a tour of the Y facilities.

Valek Reinstated By Illinois Board

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jim Valek was reinstated as a lame duck head football coach at the University of Illinois Sunday after one of the most bizarre weekends in college athletic history.

Over a span of 50 hours, Valek was fired Friday, sent his inspired Illini into a notable, if losing, performance against top-ranked Ohio State Saturday, and rehired for the remainder of the season Sunday after a threatened protest strike by Illini players.

After a show of loyalty and perhaps student power by the entire football squad, the school athletic board Sunday quickly modified its dismissal action which had terminated the Illini's services following the Valek's 48-29 Big Ten loss to Ohio State.

Athletic Director Gene Vance, who hired Valek in 1967 after Illinois' so-called slush fund scandal forced resignation of Pete Elliott, got a quick turnaround by the nine-member board in a hasty phone canvass Sunday afternoon.

Vance made it clear, that Valek was being retained for only the four remaining Illini games and that a search would begin soon for a new coach for 1971.

That was all the protesting players had demanded in announcing Saturday night the squad voted unanimously "to not step on the field again this year," unless Valek and his staff were retained for the remaining games with Purdue, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa.

But the players made their point that they regarded the abrupt dismissal a reflection on them as well as Valek.

The Illini players, who carried the game ferociously to the vaunted Buckeyes and led three times before yielding under Ohio State's 21-point final quarter, backed up their post-game strike threat with another warning Sunday at a full squad meeting with three Illini officials.

The squad met with Vance; Illinois' Big Ten faculty representative Henry S. Stillwell, and Vice Chancellor J.W. Briscoe, for 50 minutes and told the trio it still would strike unless Valek finished the season.

Less than two hours later, Vance issued a statement that the athletic board, after consultation with the team, indicated the players wanted Valek to continue for the remainder of the season. "The board wants the team to have the best possible conditions under which to complete the season," Vance said.

"The board, therefore, modifies its original action to the extent that it will request that Jim Valek continue as coach of the Fighting Illini for the remaining four games."

In its Friday action, the board proposed that Valek be paid off his contract extending through next August and that an interim coach be named immediately.

Still standing is the board's original decision that "A new coach should be in charge of Illinois football for 1971."

The revolt of the players was led by co-captains Doug Dieken, a star pass receiver, and veteran offensive guard Kirk McMillan, both seniors.

In going to bat for Valek, who has a composite record of 7-29 and has lost 11 straight Big Ten games since 1968, Dieken said the players also contended the board "wrote off the season as a lost cause, and wrote off the seniors and the rest of the players. We got four games left and we got a chance in all of them."

Vance, before releasing the board's Sunday statement, telephoned the news to both Valek and Dieken.

"I just told Jim Valek, 'Jim, are you ready to go back to work,' and he replied 'yes,' said Vance. "All I said to Dieken was 'get ready for Purdue (the next opponent)' and Doug replied 'Okay.'"

Vance said he would confer with the school's chancellor in a day or two to set in motion selection of a committee to hunt

TODAY'S THOUGHT
 By BILL BUCHANAN
 One of the most widely violated axioms is—"Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today." Procrastination is a bad habit. Unlike some other bad habits however, the procrastination habit can be easily changed. Naturally, the good habit of doing things when they should be done replaces the bad habit of putting things off.
 Common sense tells us that doing things that can and should be done today—gives us more time to do more things tomorrow. This is especially true for kind words that can and should be spoken to those in doubt or trouble. It holds true too when we step out of our way to help those who need help—now—today. Practicing decent humanities can crowd out the bad habits of procrastination that keeps us from doing the things we want to do, from being the kind of people we want to be. There is good advice in Proverbs 27:1—"Boast not of thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth."

MIT Prof Awarded Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology was awarded the 1970 Nobel Prize in economics Monday. The prize committee said he "has done more than any other contemporary economist to raise the level of scientific analysis in economic theory."

Called by a newsman at his home in a Boston suburb, Samuelson said he had "no idea I'd be winning." He said he would go to his office as usual today—"my wife won't let me stay home, not with the phones ringing like this."

The prize committee reportedly chose Samuelson from about 50 nominees, including Prof. Milton Friedman, an adviser to President Nixon, and Prof. Vasily Kantorovich, the Soviet economic mathematician.

The 55-year-old professor was honored for the "scientific work through which he has developed static and dynamic economic theory and actively contributed to raising the level of analysis in economic science," the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences said in its citation.

It was the fourth of the six 1970 awards from the fortune left by Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite. The awards, worth $80,000 each, have also gone this year to American agronomist Norman Ernest Borlaug for his contribution to the cause of peace; Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the Russian novelist, for literature; and three scientists — American biochemist Julius Axelrod, British biophysicist Sir Bernard Katz and Swedish physiologist Ulf von Euler—for medicine-physiology.

Still to be announced are the prizes for physics and chemistry.

The economics prize was set up two years ago by the Swedish Central Bank in connection with its 300th anniversary.

The Swedish Academy said Samuelson's "extensive production, covering nearly all areas of economic theory, is characterized by an outstanding ability to derive important new theorems, and to find new applications for existing ones."

His best known work is "Foundations of Economic Analysis," a standard textbook on central economic theory. The prize committee said that in his books and articles, Samuelson "has rewritten considerable parts of central economic theory, and has in several areas achieved results which now rank among the classical theorems of economics... He has developed and improved several important theorems within the theory of international trade."

FLAG FOR COURTROOM—Rep. Tom Rose (R) presented a new state flag to be displayed in the Morgan County courtroom. Accepting the flag are Associate Circuit Judge John B. Wright (C) and Morgan County Sheriff Dean Colwell. Rep. Rose is presenting the flags to several county courthouses in the area. Rose co-sponsored the bill creating a new state flag.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS IN CASS

CHANDLERVILLE — The American Legion Auxiliary Post 694 met Tuesday evening, Oct. 20, at the Ranch House in Jacksonville. New members were guests. They were Mrs. Thomas Harper, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. William Barber, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. Adrian Logue, Mrs. Timothy Chilton, Mrs. Virgil Alcorn, Mrs. Donald Goben, Mrs. Edwin McNeal, Mrs. Richard Brown, Mrs. Ernest Richard, Mrs. Addison Marcy, Mrs. Mary Louise Chilton, Mrs. Raymond Martin, Mrs. Donald Thomas, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. Lucille Murphy, Mrs. Edward Davies, Mrs. Delbert Force, Mrs. John Johnson and Miss Debbie Mibb.

New Junior Auxiliary members are Ann Marie Taylor, Ada Jo Hudson, Andrea Marcy, Bobbie Kay Johnson, Phoebe Thomas, Annette Duckwiler, Janna Johnson, Anita Duckwiler, Cindy Carpenter, Jodi Hunt, Beth Carpenter and Lisa Marie Davies.

Following the supper, pledges were led by the president, Mrs. Effie Wiseman. She announced that the Cass County Legion and Auxiliary meeting is to be held November 16 in Arenzville and that the veteran's birthday party at the Jacksonville State hospital will be November 19. Members are to bring a wrapped bingo prize to the next meeting on November 17 for the party or leave the prize at Howard's Grocery.

A motion was made to help the Legion with a ham and bean supper on November 11.

Mrs. Lyle Davis, third district president, gave an interesting talk on some different programs in the auxiliary. She announced the third division meeting at Magnolia on November 7 and 8 and the Workshop to be at Macomb February 7. She also announced a new scholarship of $200 that is available to any widow to help further her education.

The meeting closed with a prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Robert Potts.

FALL CARNIVAL SET IN CASS

CHANDLERVILLE—The Student Council of Chandlerville high school is sponsoring its annual Fall Carnival on Friday evening, Oct. 30, at the high school gymnasium.

A chili supper will be served at 5 p.m. in the school cafeteria. From 7-9 p.m. a variety of games will be set up in the gymnasium, including a fun house, jail, cake walk and bingo. Highlight of the festival will be the crowning of the carnival king and queen at 10 p.m.

Following the coronation, there will be a dance in the cafeteria and an auction in the music room.

Open House
 Open house will be held at the Chandlerville Community building from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 25, in observance of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cook of Chandlerville.

City Council Agrees To Support Kiwanis, Scout Brook Plans

The Jacksonville city council Monday night expressed agreement for a proposal from the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club and Boy Scouts to beautify and implement conservation measures along the Town Brook.

Kiwanis President Bill Deem and Boy Scout Chairman Roger Cannell explained the program to members of the council.

Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources) will begin next March and continue on a long-term basis. This is a nationwide program for all scouts.

Mr. Deem explained that the Kiwanis Club was interested in getting something done toward beautification of the city and particularly the Brook.

He said many of the boy scouts were interested also in the project and would be willing to assist, although they might lack funds.

Deem said the Kiwanis Club, through its various money-making projects, would make funds available to the scouts so that they could carry on the type programs which would become lasting and of value.

Deem said his organization was interested in helping and would be willing to provide funds where necessary for the scouts but he did not want to do something contrary to the city's wishes.

Mr. Cannell said the Brook would be divided into segments with various troops and cub packs responsible for the development, in stages, of the areas. He said the scouts would seek the professional guidance of the state conservation department and, at times, might need the help of some type of city equipment to carry out the tasks.

He said the initial stages would include a complete cleanup of the brook, picking up cans, bottles and other debris.

Mayor Pro Tem Cornell J. Kane said he would announce the name of a liaison member of the council to work with the two organizations in the near future. The aldermen expressed their interest in the project and urged the two men to start as soon as possible.

Mr. Deem showed color slides of the Brook from its start to finish, through the city.

Cash Credits

Urban Renewal Director John Pine told the council he had received a letter from the Washington, D.C., office of HUD concerning the loss of non-cash credits on the overall urban renewal project.

Pine said the letter indicated that final approval of the application for urban renewal could not be formalized until the question of the non-cash credits had been settled.

Pine said he contacted the Chicago office and that further letters are in process. Alternatives, Pine said, are to cut the program, use other projects in the Town Square area for non-cash credits, or put in cash. He said this would be determined somewhat later.

Pine said he would attend a national HUD workshop in California starting Wednesday.

Buy Police Cars

Two police cars were purchased from Glisson Ford at a cost of $5,825. The bid from Schmitt Chevrolet was about $200 less but delivery could not be firm because of a strike.

The council instructed the city attorney to draw an ordinance making the south side of West College, between Woodland and City Place, a one-hour parking zone between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Alderman Richard Doyle said he had contacted teachers at the School for the Deaf about parking too close to driveways, creating a hazard for property owners. He said appeals to their good nature concerning parking were to no avail.

The city invested $30 from the motor vehicle parking system at Jacksonville Savings and Loan.

A letter from the auditor indicated the final report would be ready Nov. 13.

Roodhouse Man In Army's Navy

KENYON COTTER is shown at the wheel of the landing craft to which he is assigned at Da Nang, Vietnam. Cotter's hometown is Roodhouse.

Seagoing 'Dog Face' In Vietnam

By DAVID L. TERRY
Special Correspondent

When SP/4 Kenyon Cotter, of Roodhouse, was drafted into the Army last year he didn't think he would end up in the Army's Navy.

Cotter, who is married to Mrs. Patricia Cotter of Roodhouse, is stationed on a ship leased from the Navy at Da Nang, Vietnam. Cotter's ship is the LCU 1481, a landing craft, which is used to deliver supplies to the U.S. Army in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

Cotter's job on the LCU 1481 is senior seaman in charge of steering, but lately he has been doing a lot of painting. It seems that the ship has been in dock for almost three weeks, and the only thing the crew does is paint.

Cotter has been in the Army 14 months, and he has already put in two months in Vietnam. He has made two trips up the rugged coastline of South Vietnam, delivering supplies to Tan My, but he hasn't "picked up any shore fire from the enemy yet."

The landing craft is stationed in the beautiful mountain ringed bay at Da Nang (Touraine), but Cotter has not had much time to enjoy the beauty since he is working 12 hours a day, six days a week. On his day off he either goes to the PX or swimming at China Beach, a nearby U.S. Army "Rest and Recuperation" center.

The nearby city of Da Nang is off limits to all military personnel, and the only reason for going to town is the transaction of official business.

In contrast with Saigon and the southern corp areas, the war is still going on near Da Nang. Although the city is relatively secure from the VC, local hoodlums called "cowboys" roam the streets of the city and remove most of the desire of local soldiers to venture into town.

The LCU 1481 is painted the traditional Navy gray and was originally built in 1952 for the Navy. The Army leased the large landing craft to deliver

To Demonstrate Arts And Crafts At Virginia

VIRGINIA — Local and area artists will demonstrate their skills during National Art Week, Nov. 2-6, in two local locations: the lobby at Petefish, Skiles and Co. Bank and the Hiernan Appliance Store.

The bank demonstration will be from 12 noon to 2 p.m. and the store appearances from 2 to 4 p.m. with a variety of persons participating.

Many interesting crafts will be demonstrated: china painting, cake decorating, rug making, portrait painting, quilting, painting on velvet paper.

Also flower and candle making, antiquing artificial fruit and making corn shuck dolls. The demonstrators will be answering any questions during the demonstrations.

The fine arts committee of the Virginia Woman's club invites all interested persons to view these exhibits.

Mrs. Ray Page Honored At Tea In Winchester

By Mrs. James Cox
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3817)

WINCHESTER — Mrs. Ray Page, wife of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, was honored at a tea held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Garrison. Mrs. Lavern Jones and Mrs. Ralph Peak were also hostesses for the social hour.

Other honored out of town guests were Mrs. Tom Rose, wife of our State Representative of the 50th District; Mrs. Merle Inman, 20th District Chairman of the Women's Division of the GOP State Central Committee; and Mrs. Carol Dewing, secretary to Ray Page.

The highlight of Winchester's Homecoming festivities was the crowning of the Homecoming King and Queen Saturday evening.

Miss Vicki Wade and Dorman Deeder, seniors at Winchester, were crowned King and Queen by last year's Homecoming King and Queen, Lloyd Boes and Mary Linda Haggard.

Making up the court were: Senior attendants, Janice Lair and Gary Colard; junior attendants, Janet Boes and Mark Cooper; sophomore attendants, Nancy Christian and Darrell Colard; freshman attendants; Melinda Todd and Billy Vedder.

Serving as crown bearers were Steve McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don McLaughlin, and Libby Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Baker.

Playing for the Homecoming dance was the "Big Hungry" from Louisiana, Missouri.

Float Winners
The Homecoming parade was held Thursday, October 22, with a pep rally on the square.

Winner of first place was the junior class float; the freshman class and F.H.A. floats tied for second place. Cash prizes were awarded to the winners and a traveling trophy to first place.

Sandridge Roll Call
The Sandridge Baptist church had a full house at their Roll Call services Sunday, October 25. Former members and pastors were present with special music being provided. The church history was read.

Four of the former pastors present were: Rev. Milton Powell, Jacksonville; Rev. Perry Sherwin, Patterson; Rev. Wayne Guthrie, Nebo; and Rev. June Ford also of Nebo.

Bringing the afternoon message was Rev. William Martin of White Hall, pastor of Charity Baptist church in Greenfield.

Halloween Party
Tracey Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Day, entertained her fourth grade classmates at a Halloween masquerade party Friday evening. The group enjoyed a wiener roast.

The group enjoyed a wiener roast, played spooky games and held a seance during the evening.

Those who attended were: Julie Blackburn, Lisa Coon, Debra Cox, Beth Eddinger, Allison Hainsfurther, Barbara McEvers, Judi McLaughlin, Judy Teaney, and Dana Watt.

Helping with the party was Norine Day and Mary Ann Evans.

Happy Homemakers to Meet
The Happy Homemakers Extension Unit will meet Wednesday, October 28, at the home of Mrs. Irwin Ehler at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Herb Ehler will be assistant hostess with Mrs. Larry Blackburn presenting the lesson.

Personals
Mrs. Keith Jefferson has taken the job as assistant postmistress at the Alsey post office.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Day, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Day, and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Gail Day and family of Roodhouse attended a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Day and family in Jacksonville Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Havens were Sunday guests of their son, Mr. and Mrs. James Havens and family of Chatham.

$5,000

Barr Foundation Gift Aids Franklin Youth

A gift from the Jacksonville Children's Foundation in the amount of $5,000 will enable Franklin, Illinois, young people to enjoy a recreation center and year 'round recreation facilities in the village park.

The Foundation recently made the gift to the Village of Franklin for a Teen Town, or youth recreation center, to be located in the basement of the Shamrock building, the use of which is being donated by a Franklin businessman, C. D. (Pat) Kenny.

A paved area will be completed in the Village Park with facilities for basketball, volleyball, shuffle board, tennis and ice skating. There will also be a playground equipped for younger children.

Work will commence immediately on the first phase of the program, Teen Town, with plans for it to be in operation by Thanksgiving. Grading of the external project will begin at once, with completion to be made in the spring.

The Foundation held its annual meeting in October, and at that time vacancies in the board of directors were filled by naming the following to three-year terms: Mrs. Mary Louise McGinnis, executive director, Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council; Paul Ames, Franklin Lions club; and incumbent Darrow Steinheimer, Jacksonville Elks club.

The new board of directors in turn elected these officers: Darrow Steinheimer, president, filling his fourth consecutive term; William Meyer, vice president; Norma Armstrong, secretary; and George Trull, treasurer, also incumbents.

The financial statement of the Jacksonville Children's Foundation is available for public inspection and can be seen at the Trust Department of Elliott State Bank. The Foundation is the agent for the Minnie Barr estate and continues service to area youth in carrying out the wishes of the late Minnie Barr as specified in her will. Since its organization, the Foundation has made possible several projects in the Jacksonville area, the latest of which is the gift made to the Village of Franklin.

Couple Pleads To Revenue Charge Monday
A Jacksonville couple, David J. and Mary D. Morgan, operators of the Colonial Motel, 205 East Morton entered pleas of guilty in magistrate court Monday to selling retail without a proper registration.

Both were assessed fines of $100 and costs each.

The Morgans were named in a complaint signed by H. J. Bruings, an investigator for the Department of Revenue. Bruings said the business was operating without a valid registration because his office had revoked the permit for non-payment of sales tax some time ago.

John Brown, 50, of Route 1, Virginia, entered pleas of guilty to two traffic charges, driving while license was suspended and improper use of registration. He was ordered to spend 13 days in the county jail and given credit for time already spent in jail on both charges. Brown had been in jail 13 days and was released after the court appearance.

Arthur Wayne Smith of Barry, charged with forgery stemming from an incident in 1968, was released on $1,000 bond for appearance later concerning the charges.

Aurelia Brunk Of Springfield Dies Sunday

VIRGINIA — Aurelia Brunk of 1825 W. Capitol, Springfield died at 12:10 p.m. Sunday at the Americana Nursing Center in Springfield.

She was born Nov. 19, 1891 in Cass county, the daughter of John and Mary Evans Brunk.

She is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Massie Funeral Home in Virginia with the Rev. Herbert Beuoy officiating.

Ackerman Gets Endorsement Of Attorney General

Attorney General William J. Scott has personally endorsed J. Waldo Ackerman for Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit Court.

Ackerman is the Republican candidate for the six-county judicial post serving Greene, Jersey, Macoupin, Morgan, Sangamon and Scott counties.

In giving Ackerman his personal endorsement for the judgeship, Attorney General Scott said:

"As both State Treasurer and again as Attorney General, I have sought out Wally Ackerman to serve as my assistant in dealing with many of the difficult, legally complex assignments involving the public's affairs. I did so because I knew him to be exceptional as an attorney and as an individual. He is decisive, determined and dedicated and these are qualities demanded in our courts in these difficult times.

"Throughout his service to the public in State government, as a State's Attorney, Chief Springfield City Attorney, and in many other direct-action roles—he has performed to the highest expectation.

"As a judge, I know that he will serve faithfully and fully the interests of those who are determined to protect and preserve an orderly society, based on law and human justice.

Mini-Thon Nets $3,005 Total For United Fund

Don Winkelman, chairman of the first Morgan County United Fund Mini-Thon netted a total of $3,005 for the annual fund drive to assist 13 local agencies.

The 33-minute television special was viewed over Channel 13, WJZY. Time for the mini-thon was presented by the television station as a public service.

Winkelman said the largest single hour of contributions was recorded by the American Business club (AMBUC) segment, with $1,075.

Winkelman said contributions were received from throughout Morgan county, Springfield, Quincy and other communities in a wide area.

Contributors who pledged donations during the mini-thon are urged to send the checks to United Fund, Box 244, Jacksonville, Ill. 62650.

Winkelman said all talent for the show was donated.

Man Beaten Early Monday

A Jacksonville man was admitted to Passavant hospital early Monday morning, and his wife claims he was beaten up by two other men.

Howard Bryant of 1054 West Greenwood was taken to the hospital around 2:30 a.m. by his wife, Dixie, for treatment of what she reported to be a broken nose and other injuries. Bryant was reported in "good" condition.

Mrs. Bryant told Jacksonville police her husband came out of the Bowling Center on West Walnut and was jumped by two men. She also said the two men stole the Bryant car, but officers found the car where it was supposed to have been stolen.

Further information surrounding the incident was not known.

BEARDSTOWN WIFE FIRES AT SPOUSE

BEARDSTOWN — Beardstown police jailed Mrs. Barbara Elliott of that city overnight after she was charged with aggravated assault. Her case is pending.

Police say Mrs. Elliott fired a rifle at her husband, Clyde, during an incident that occurred in the vicinity of their home at the Parkview Trailer Court.

"You Name It" Jobs Asked By Student Nurses

Student nurses at Passavant Hospital School of Nursing, in the junior class, will mark Slave Day this coming Saturday, Oct. 31.

The girls are ambitious to book as many "work-outs" as possible and have two phone numbers for persons to call any day after 4 p.m. The numbers are 243-9984 or 243-9809.

The students are available at no set wage, accepting voluntary donations from their employers.

They promise excellent "sitter service" for the elderly, the handicapped or children, to run errands for shut-ins or those too busy; perform house-keeping chores; wash a car; clean windows; you name it and inquire at the above phone numbers.

This novel money-making project is sponsored annually by members of each junior year class. The endeavor is successful only through cooperation of the general public assisting young students in their training to enter the field of nursing.
